KNIFE BIN BID TO STOP STABBINGS

Report by Richard Guttridge

A KNIFE surrender bin will be placed in Dudley as police take action following a series of stabbings in the borough.

Police chiefs are to place the bin in a town centre location after the borough was shocked by three stabbings in eight days last month.

There are already bins in place in Wolverhampton and Sandwell and another is planned for Walsall to encourage the collection and destruction of weapons.

Police believe the bins are useful tools in helping to tackle knife crime, which gives people the opportunity to help rid the streets of knives without fear of retribution.

Mansoor Mahmood, aged 24, died after being knifed in Brierley Hill High Street. It came after stabbings in Lower Gornal and Sedgley.

Police and Crime Commissioner David Jamieson said a knife bin would be placed in Dudley within weeks, after proving successful elsewhere in the Black Country.

More than 140 weapons – including axes, swords and knives – have been recovered from the latest opening of surrender bins in the West Midlands.

Police revealed the secure bin on Dunstall Road in Whitmore Reans, Wolverhampton, had the highest number of dumped weapons with 54 blades.

Zombie

These included three swords and the kind of vicious 'zombie' knife that has been recently outlawed.

Mr Jamieson said the key to tackling knife crime was getting the message through to children when they are at a young age that carrying knives was unacceptable.

He said: "We are determined to take tough action against the sort of people who are carrying knives. The really sad thing is that most of the offenders are boys in their teens and the victims are boys in their teens and aged up to 24."

"We can't arrest our way out of the problems. A lot of boys who find themselves in problems lack a father figure and find themselves drifting into gangs."

"We need to look at children when they are nine to 13, and educate them and to get them to understand the consequences of carrying knives."

"The very simple message is if you carry a knife the chances are someone will use a knife on you."

ALL SYSTEMS GO FOR GAMER ON GADGET SHOW

Nick Browne, of the Vintage Gamer shop in Halesowen, who is to have a major role in Channel 5's The Gadget Show at Christmas

A RETRO video game specialist from the Black Country will feature on Channel 5's Gadget Show over the festive period.

Nick Browne, owner of Vintage Gamer shop, was approached by the team behind The Gadget Show. They then spent over two hours filming him and around his shop in Halesowen.

The Gadget Show, now in its 24th series, puts both old and new gadgets through their paces.

The team filmed Nick discussing which forgotten gaming gems could be hidden away in people's lofts and also took a look at all things Pokemon Go. They also spoke on the advances in console gaming along with some of Nick's own tips and advice, which will be screened on December 21.

Nick said: "It was very surreal to have them come over and film. I think it'll be a little cringe to watch myself but it'll be great as I've never been on TV before."

"The presenter, Jason (Bradbury), asked me what prized possessions I've got that's rare and expensive so I told him about a game I've got which is ridiculously rare. The game was originally for the Nintendo NES console and is called Duck Tales, based on the Disney film."

"There's only 150 numbered games in the world and 20 that aren't numbered as they were the first original batch. To find one is ridiculously hard but I've got three – one numbered and two from the original batch. I'm on the hunt for more even though the last one I bought cost me nearly £1,500."

Nick opened his first gaming shop in 2013 before moving to his current premises in 2014 which is home to a video game arcade.

COURT

Driver charged after passenger is killed

A 22-year-old man has been charged with causing death by dangerous driving after one of his passengers was killed in a collision on Saturday.

Liam Ellis, from Wiseley Way in Quinton, appeared at Birmingham Magistrates Court on Monday in connection with the crash on Adams Hill, Bartley Green, which happened just before 3am. He was remanded into custody ahead of his next appearance at Birmingham Crown Court on December 23.

A woman in her 20s, a rear seat passenger, was confirmed dead at the scene.

DEATH

Body of missing pensioner found

THE body of a missing pensioner has been found in a fishing pool.

West Midlands Police had been searching for 75-year-old William Jewkes from Sedgley after he was last seen opening a church for a mother and toddler group.

On Friday police confirmed that his body had been found in the pool on Parkes Hall Road, Dudley, at 12.28pm. His death is not being treated as suspicious and Mr Jewkes' family has been informed.

FOOTBALL

Glassboys ready to make FA Cup history

THERE will be a capacity crowd at the War Memorial ground in Amblecote on Sunday for Stourbridge's FA Cup second round tie with Northampton Town.

The Glassboys will play League One outfit Northampton at 2pm as they aim to reach the third round proper for the first time in their history. More than 2,000 supporters will watch Gary Hackett's side take on the Cobblers with the potential reward of a dramatic glamour tie in the next round.

More than 400 away fans will be making the trip from the East Midlands.

Road concern raised after fatal crash

A STRETCH of road in Shropshire where a Black Country motorcyclist died is to come under scrutiny after a coroner vowed to write to highways chiefs about it.

Halesowen motorcyclist Jason Gardener, a welder, died when his Suzuki motorbike collided with a Toyota Rav 4 on the Stourbridge Road between Six Ashes and Bridgnorth.

John Ellery, coroner for Shropshire, Telford & Wrekin, said he would write to Shropshire Council's traffic safety manager at the conclusion of an inquest on the fatal accident on the A458.

Mr Gardener, a 43-year old welder, who lived at Hawne Lane, crashed at the junction of the Stourbridge Road with Woodyard Lane on May 15. He died of multiple injuries, the inquest held at Shrewsbury was told last week.

Mr Ellery heard from witnesses that the day had been clear and visibility good on the stretch of road.

Dangerous

Matthew Timmins, from Perton, near Wolverhampton, had been behind the Rav 4 as it prepared to pull out of Woodyard Lane onto the A458.

"I know how dangerous that junction is so I hung back," said Mr Timmins. "Just as he was turning right, that was when the accident occurred."

"I heard a huge noise and saw the bike hit the car and spin in a clockwise motion down the road. That junction is horrendous."

In summing up, Mr Ellery said: "This is a junction that is a matter of concern. I will write to Brian Williams, traffic safety manager at Shropshire Council, about this."

"The appropriate conclusion is one of a road traffic collision."

The driver of the car, John Launchbury, declined to give evidence at the inquest.

Collision investigator, PC Chris Duffer, said that it was impossible to say how fast Mr Gardener been travelling prior to the accident.

Etheridge is given top UKIP post by new boss

EURO MP and Sedgley councillor Bill Etheridge was this week appointed to UKIP's top team just hours after new leader Paul Nuttall replaced Nigel Farage.

Mr Etheridge, an MEP and Dudley Council member, is his party's new defence spokesman.

He said: "I am excited and it is a great honour."

"It is an area where the party will make a big difference as it is our policy for a big increase in spending. I'm a big believer of the phrase 'peace through strength'."

Mr Etheridge pulled out of the UKIP leadership contest to back Mr Nuttall, a personal friend. Merseyside Mr Nuttall won with more than 60 per cent of the vote from UKIP members.

Mr Etheridge said the party will be targeting the Black Country and Labour voters.

"Paul really sees the Black Country and the West Midlands as somewhere that has been let down by the traditional parties," he said.

"As a region it overwhelmingly backed the campaign to leave the EU. Those people are looking for a voice and UKIP will be that voice for them."

The election was the second in a few months, following previous victor Diane James's decision to step down after just 18 days in the job.

Mr Nuttall took 62.6 per cent of the vote, beating former deputy chairwoman Suzanne Evans, and ex-soldier John Rees-Evans.

90-year-old dies in road accident

A 90-YEAR-OLD man was knocked over and killed on the busy A449 near Wombourne, just yards from his home. Two men have been arrested in connection with the incident.

Frederick Dudley, of Bearnett Drive, Upper Penn, was reportedly struck by a black VW Scirocco travelling towards Himley on the Stourbridge Road, near the Miller & Carter restaurant.

A 27-year-old from Wolverhampton and a 25-year-old from Kingswinford have been arrested over offences connected with the incident and given bail.

Eyewitness Paul Smith, of Lloyd Drive, comforted Mr Dudley as he lay dying in the road. He said the victim had just got off a bus. Witnesses should call Staffordshire Police on 101 quoting incident 570.

Five Guys arrive at Merry Hill centre

POPULAR burger chain Five Guys has opened at Merry Hill shopping centre, creating 35 jobs. It is the American restaurant's first outlet in the Black Country, after arriving at Birmingham's Bullring. Five Guys Burger and Fries first opened in the USA 30 years ago.

The volunteer team: Jen Williams, Mike Crook, Niall Jackson and Kelvin Bates at the Black Country Food Bank

"EVERY donation matters" - that's the message from staff and volunteers busily working behind the scenes at the Black Country Food Bank.

The charity's warehouse in Brierley Hill is where every item donated is logged and stored before it is delivered to its 19 distribution centres. People can visit these centres to exchange vouchers for three days of emergency food supplies.

Around 40 volunteers work sorting donations and ensuring they are delivered to the different centres depending on demand. Every item is checked and the best before date written on it to ensure supplies are used in the right order.

"The biggest crime we commit is to waste food so it's important that we know when it has to be used by," said volunteer Kelvin Bates.

Any donation which must be used urgently is passed on to The Good Shepherd Ministry in Wolverhampton which serves hot meals to those in need.

Within the warehouse, items are stored by food type to make it easier for supplies to be gathered and for monitoring of stock.

"It's not as much as it looks. The cereals might just be enough for a few weeks and the whole lot would run out within a few months without further donations, said Mr Bates who has been volunteering for the charity for 11 years.

"We are grateful for everything we receive, every donation matters and makes a difference."

Crisis

Last year, the warehouse distributed 36,000kg of food across the Black Country which had been donated from the community including 70 churches and 50 schools.

It's not just food. The charity also hands out toiletries and cleaning supplies.

The charity provides crisis provision to an average of 1,400 people per month. Of those around 40 per cent are children.

The main issue people face is benefits being delayed or stopped, which leaves them turning to the food bank for help. It partners with around 250 local agencies in an effort to ensure that food goes those in genuine need.

Mr Bates, aged 68, from Brierley Hill, said the charity was well-supported in the community.

"This job restores your faith in humanity. It's wonderful to see what people have given to help people they have never met and are never likely to.

"We often hear about the bad things that are happening in the community - we don't tend hear about all of the good things. This is the good that is happening every day," he added.

Jen Williams, aged 67, from Kingswinford, has been volunteering for 12 months, having previously worked at Debenhams and as a hairdresser.

She said: "I was amazed at how much this food was needed. I had no idea how hard some people were finding it just to get enough to eat.

"I love volunteering here because I know I'm doing my bit to help those less fortunate."

The Black Country Food Bank is one of the good causes which will benefit from the Express & Star's Feed A Family This Christmas appeal.

With the help of readers The Chronicle's sister newspaper wants to provide families with Christmas treats they would otherwise not be able to afford as well, as supplying them with store-cupboard essentials to keep them going through the festive season.

As part of the Feed A Family campaign, the Express & Star will also be supporting food banks in Wolverhampton, Smethwick, Walsall and Cannock.

Location of new leisure centres is key factor

TWO new leisure centres will need to be within easy reach of everyone in Dudley borough, the council's regeneration boss says.

Controversial plans to close the borough's three existing centres and replace them with two new facilities were revealed last month.

Dudley Council regeneration boss Councillor Khurshid Ahmed said that he expected one of the centres to be in Dudley, which meant it was important that the other, that is likely to be in the south of the borough, could be accessed easily.

If that was the case, it would mean either Stourbridge or Halesowen would be left without a leisure centre.

Hundreds have signed a petition calling for the plans to be scrapped.

Mr Ahmed said: "If we go from three to two, which is likely, we have got to make sure there is connectivity and they are easily accessible."

Struggle

"It needs to be within 20 minutes commuting time. Anything beyond that and you struggle to get people to go."

In response to the council's move, former councillor and cabinet member for environment and leisure, Tracy Wood, set up the The Save Our Leisure Centres campaign. So far 1,400 people have backed it.

"I'm going to continue building the campaign and putting pressure on the council to prevent the leisure centres from closing," she added.

Councillor Ahmed said no decision had been made yet and a full report would be going to the council's next cabinet meeting.

GP accused of sex attacks on patients

A GP has been accused of sex attacks on three of his patients, police have revealed.

Dr Jaswant Rathore has been charged with 10 counts of sexual assault and will appear before Walsall magistrates on December 23.

West Midlands Police said last night charges against the 58-year-old, of Ploughmans Walk, Wall Heath, related to alleged offences against three of his patients.

Dr Rathore, who works at a surgery in the Dudley area, previously served as Dudley Clinical Commissioning Group (CCG) clinical executive for finance and business intelligence.

Dr David Hegarty, chair of Dudley CCG, confirmed on Friday that Dr Rathore was no longer a board member at the CCG. He left the board on December 31, 2015.

A West Midlands Police spokesman said: "Specialist officers are supporting the victims and we would urge anybody else with information to call 101 or contact Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111."

Churchill House in Halesowen

PROMINENT town centre premises could be set for major investment after being put on the market for around £800,000.

Churchill House in Halesowen has a whole floor of vacant space which could prove attractive to investors.

The building on Hagley Street covers three floors, including a parade of three ground floor shop units, and four flats.

The current businesses in the premises are Blore & King estate agents, Boots opticians and a shop and cafe run by sight loss charity Beacon. They have been told not to expect any impact on their businesses from the sale of the freehold.

According to the property listing on property auctioneers Allsop, the property currently generates £77,220 per year in rent.

It will go up for sale in an auction being held by Allsop in London on Tuesday, December 6.

The building is situated in a prominent pedestrianised town centre position in the heart of the shopping area.

The building sits between the multi-storey car park on Pool Road and the main entrance to The Cornbow Shopping Centre.

In June it was decided by Dudley Council that planning permission wasn't needed for a change of use of the second floor from office units to residential use.

The property is lot 101 at the commercial auction being held from 10am at The Berkeley, Wilton Place, Knightsbridge, London. For further information visit www.auction.co.uk/commercial/home.asp or call 0207 543 6876.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Actor gives sneak peak of TV plan

STARS of Peaky Blinders are due to return to Dudley in March when filming of the gangster drama resumes.

Star of the hit TV series, actor Cillian Murphy, confirmed that work on series four starts in the spring, when he was interviewed at the premiere of new movie Free Fire.

The story of Brummie gangsters is set between the wars and much of the filming takes place at the Black Country Living Museum, on Tipton Road. Peaky Blinders has become an international hit and inspired a fashion craze for 1920s haircuts and caps.

New officers to fight cyber crime

WEST Midlands Police will take on 200 officers to specifically tackle cyber crime.

The recruits will be in addition to 800 new officers set to join the force by 2020.

Police and Crime Commissioner David Jamieson has made tackling cyber crime one of his key priorities over the next four years as part of his police and crime plan.

Mr Jamieson said cyber crime, such as fraud and terrorism, was one of the biggest challenges facing the force today.

Veteran singer's town hall date

VETERAN singer and actress Anita Harris is to appear in a music hall show in Dudley.

The matinee performance of The Good Old Days of Variety is taking place in Dudley Town Hall on March 14 at 2pm.

The 74-year-old entertainer appeared in two Carry On movies, had hit records in the 1960s and was a star of the 1981 Royal Variety Performance. Tickets cost £12, call (01384) 812812.

Cars, HGV and tyres in scrap yard blaze

FIREFIGHTERS tackled a scrap yard blaze in Lye which saw cars, an HGV and more than 30 tyres alight.

The incident happened near to the Lye Valley Industrial Estate, in Bromley Street, on Friday evening.

Two crews from Brierley Hill and one from Haden Cross attended.

A West Midlands Fire Service spokesman said: "Scrap metal, 30 tyres, several cars and an HGV were alight. Luckily nobody was injured. We left at 8.34pm."

Winter sun warning

A FIRE service spokesman has warned motorists about the risk of being dazzled by the low in the sky winter sun after an accident in Kingswinford on Friday.

A taxi crashed into the back of a lorry on Market Street just after 11am. No one was injured.

Council vans are dumped in canal

THIEVES stole vans used to help the elderly and disabled in Dudley and dumped them in a canal.

The vans were stolen from the Dudley Council depot in Kingswinford on November 11. They ended up in the canal near Cinder Bank roundabout.

Rescue vehicles were called to the towpath to pull the council vans out of the canal.

The vans will be useless after having been totally submerged with only a van roof to be seen poking out of the water before they were hauled back onto dry land.

Senseless

Councillor Qadar Zada, cabinet member for adult social care at the council, said: "This is a senseless and appalling crime, to steal two vans used for transporting equipment to the elderly and disabled.

"I am disgusted that they have targeted the most vulnerable in our community and we take this very seriously."

He added that the council's service to the elderly and disabled would continue as normal.

THE BEST OF PETER RHODES

HEINZ produced a TV advert showing how to play a tune using empty baked-bean tins. But after receiving just nine complaints about the alleged danger of kids cutting themselves on sharp edges, the Advertising Standards Authority has banned it. However, since the ban was announced, the ad, and variations of it, have gone viral with just three YouTube videos attracting between them more than two million viewers. So nine complainers and the ASA ban have given Heinz more publicity than it could have dreamed of. In this internet age, banz meanz viewerz.

YET another bunch of parents and kids have been disappointed when a day trip to see Santa turned out to be a tent in a waterlogged field, this time in Derbyshire. But the giveaway, surely, was the name. By this time in human history, we should all be very wary of any attraction involving the words winter, wonderland and grotto. Especially in November.

ED Balls took lot of stick on Strictly Come Dancing before being voted off at the weekend. But of all the contestants, he was closest to the original idea of the show which was to take people from different walks of life, teach them to dance and see how good they could become. Instead, genuine clod-hoppers like Balls find themselves pitched against established showbiz stars who are used to performing song and dance routines, not to mention Olympic gymnast Claudia Fragapane who enlivens her dances with effortless one-handed cartwheels, for goodness' sake. By voting for Balls to stay for ten weeks, viewers defied the experts, refused to toe the line and made a sloping playing field just a bit more level.

MYSTERIES of our time. A full refurbishment of Buckingham Palace will cost £370 million. A full refurbishment of the Palace of Westminster will cost more than 10 times as much, at £4,000m. Now, it may be that the Westminster job really is 10 times bigger than the one at Buck House. Or could it be that politicians spend public money like water while Her Majesty is known to watch every penny?

Soap star and Santa drop in HOSPITAL bosses are looking at bed or chair alarms for some elderly patients after a 96-year-old woman died after falling from a bed in Russells Hall Hospital.

Thelma McDermott also hit her head against a bin as she fell from a bed on which rails had been lowered.

An inquest heard that Mrs McDermott suffered an acute subdural hematoma in an emergency care ward on August 25, after being taken to the hospital for the second time in two days. The first was after falling in her room at Prestwood House Nursing Home, near Stourbridge, and the second after staff at the home became worried about her condition.

After the fall in hospital nurses rushed to Mrs McDermott's aid. Doctors agreed her injuries were too severe for her to be saved. She was taken back to Prestwood House, where she died on August 29.

Crash

Cannock Coroner's Court heard that Mrs McDermott had been on a bed with the rails down and at 4.36am a loud crash was heard. She was found on the floor with a laceration on her head. She was taken for a CT scan and found to have an acute subdural hematoma.

It was suggested she may have been reaching for pull-cord to get a nurse's attention when the fall happened.

Nurse Martin Gallagher said that Mrs McDermott had been given anti-slip socks and the rails had been lowered on her bed for safety reasons. He said: "The rails are not on the bed to restrain patients, they are there to stop patients rolling over the side and falling out in their sleep. There was no explanation as to why she had fallen. She was in a confused state."

Jane Pugh, lead nurse for the emergency care department, said: "The hospital is currently investigating whether more formal risk assessments should be made and whether bed or chair alarms should be installed."

Senior Coroner for South Staffordshire, Andrew Haigh, said that Mrs McDermott was generally in good health but did suffer from dementia.

"The fall and the head injury is a significant factor," he said. "I don't order the hospital to carry out a further report as I have already heard that staff are looking at different options."

He delivered a narrative conclusion, saying Mrs McDermott was unwell and had a fall.

Father Christmas has a grotto at the Ryemarket centre

STOURBRIDGE and Brierley Hill get lit up for Christmas on Saturday.

There will be festive family fun in Stourbridge town centre from 10am until 5pm including fun-fair rides on Market Street and live entertainment in Crown Square and Fountain Square.

Father Christmas will be in his grotto in the Ryemarket shopping centre from 11am to 4pm, and there will be stalls on High Street and Coventry Street.

Coronation Street star Jack P Shepherd, who plays the troubled David Platt in the top soap, will switch on the lights at 5pm in Crown Square.

Grotto

Santa will be staying in Stourbridge with his grotto open every Saturday until Christmas Eve at the Ryemarket.

Ryemarket centre manager Kelley Dyas said: "Christmas is here and we want to ensure we offer families a destination that embraces the magic."

Brierley Hill will be celebrating from 11am with a Teenage Market in the Moor Centre and the lights switched on at 6pm.

College is under fire after low ranking

SANDWELL College has been criticised after it was ranked among the bottom fifth of colleges in the country, according to a new report.

A survey of bosses finds the college ranked among the worst in the country in terms of employer satisfaction.

The West Bromwich-based campus scored zero out of four in terms of how it was viewed by companies – in stark contrast to colleges in Wolverhampton and Dudley, which both scored high marks putting them in the top third.

Sandwell College was ranked in the bottom 40 colleges overall, according to the league table which also judged sites on the satisfaction of students, success of apprenticeships and how many students found jobs.

The data was revealed by further education website FE Week. Sandwell College scored a meagre employer satisfaction rate of 54 out of 100. This compared to Dudley College, which scored 91.

Sandwell College spokeswoman Helen Dalloway said: "These ratings are entirely arbitrary, based on incomplete data. Our most recent Ofsted report, which graded the college as good, states: 'Apprenticeship provision meets much-needed demands from employers'. Apprenticeship success rates have improved year on year and were five per cent above the national average."

Unpaid holiday proposal to 'protect' jobs

STAFF at Dudley Council could be forced to take five days unpaid holiday each year as part of the authority's plans to make £1.5 million savings.

The proposal could be part of the cash-strapped Labour council's three-year medium term saving plan, which seeks to save money following Government funding cuts.

Opposition leaders have aired doubts regarding the proposal. They believe the measure should be optional because it could hit staff on lower wages the hardest.

Conservative member Councillor Les Jones, Chairman of Dudley Council's Corporate Scrutiny Committee, said: "There are a number of options available to the council including this measure. It is just a proposal and it will be subject to negotiations, such as with trade unions."

"The current proposal from the council is that this would be compulsory, but some people will not be able to afford it."

Councillor Jones said that he would agree to the cost-saving measure if it was made optional.

Council leader Councillor Pete Lowe said: "Staff have gone above and beyond through some very difficult times in recent years, but these proposals are very much about protecting jobs and essential front line services."

City's bull statue gets festive makeover

Festive new look for the iconic Bullring Bull as the shopping centre gears up for Christmas

CHRISTMAS has arrived in Birmingham as city icon the Bull at the entrance to the Bullring shopping centre has been given a festive outfit – and this year he's channelling his inner Christmas pudding.

Throughout December the many thousands of visitors to the city centre will be able to stop by and see the landmark adorned like a pudding with a sprig of giant-sized holly.

The light-up Christmas pudding suit was designed by the Bull's official costume designer, Kate Unwin. She has been responsible for many of his festive looks including the Gingerbread Bull in 2014 and his Elf-inspired outfit last Christmas.

The Bullring's Maggie Foggett said: "The Bull's festive costumes have proved a big hit and we've no doubt that this year's Christmas pudding outfit will be just as popular. The Bull is one of the city's busiest selfie spots so we're asking customers to share their pictures with us on social media using #ChristmasBull."

THE poorest families in Dudley borough are facing a rise in their council tax.

Dudley Council is set to make changes to its reduction scheme, which aims to support low-income families by giving them council tax relief.

Currently, those eligible for the reduction pay 20 per cent of the council tax bill. The amount they will have to pay is now set to rise by two per cent, despite two-thirds of people who took part in the consultation stating they were against the move. The change could save the council more than £150,000.

Currently those eligible in an average Band D property pay £267.56 annually towards the full charge of £1,337.8. Next year's council tax has yet to be set but, if it remains the same, the amount to pay will rise to £294.32.

A decision is set to be made at a full council meeting on Monday but a report states the two per cent increase as the favoured option. Other options include keeping the scheme as it is, or a five per cent rise.

Finance

Council finance boss Councillor David Sparks said chiefs had done 'all we could' to protect low-income households but the authority needed to cut costs as a result of Government funding cuts.

The council currently grants around £19 million in council tax reduction, while collecting around £120m from the rest of the borough.

A consultation found that the majority of people preferred to keep the scheme as it is. A total of 113 of 280 people said they 'strongly disagreed' with the other proposals.

Conservative councillor Steve Clark, shadow for finance, said: "It is going to affect the most vulnerable people in Dudley."

Arrest made after man is found injured

A MAN was found injured after an alleged attack which forced a Rowley Regis road to be closed.

The man, aged in his 30s, was discovered with injuries to his face following reports of an assault on Monday afternoon.

He was taken to hospital where his condition was described as stable yesterday (Wednesday).

A 32-year-old man was arrested on suspicion of assault and was in custody yesterday.

Police were called to the scene of the incident at Ross, near Britannia Park, at around 2.30pm.

Part of the road was sealed off near Churchill Drive while police began their investigations. They were making door-to-door inquiries.

Anyone with information should call Detective Sergeant Leighton Shingles at Force CID on 101.

Stella's not on the ball with latest assertions

I'VE always had a lot of time for Stella Creasy, the West-Midland born MP for Walthamstow once seen as a rising star of the Labour Party.

This is partly because I remember her as a young parliamentary assistant to then Dudley North MP Ross Cranston after finishing university in the 1990s. But more to the point, unlike some of her perpetually disgruntled colleagues, she has come up with some original ideas and thought-provoking campaigns. Her work exposing the extortionate interest rates of payday lenders is a case in point.

But her latest assertion, that the consistent underperformance of the England football team is down to the fact that not enough players went to comprehensive schools, is way off beam.

Miss Creasy says 13 per cent of players picked for England are privately educated – twice the national average – meaning that the talent pool is too narrow.

But, 13 per cent actually amounts to two players, Theo Walcott and Alex Oxlade-Chamberlain.

But if Stella did a bit of digging, she would find that over the years a disproportionate number of England footballers actually went to a single comprehensive school – Idsall School in Shifnal, which is close to where the FA academy at Lilleshall is based.

I know everyone loves a bit of diversity these days but I don't think the failure of the England team is down to Wayne Rooney and Raheem Sterling being too posh. You could blame the money-obsessed Premier League and its demands for instant success, meaning clubs would rather buy ready-made overseas players than nurture their own talent. Or you could blame successive governments, including those of Miss Creasy's party, for selling off school playing fields. But really, I think it's down to the fact that our footballers are not very good.

NOW I doubt if there has ever been much honour among thieves. People who say such things tend to be the sort of dewy eyed, rose-tinted sentimentalists who recall how the Krays had nice table manners.

But there are some crimes taking place today which truly defy belief, that one could not possibly imagine even a couple of decades ago.

Take last week's break-in at the Mary Stevens Hospice shop in Wordsley.

Thieves stole 50 bags of items donated to make hampers which would raise money for those with incurable illnesses.

What sort of person steals from the terminally ill? While we don't know the motives in this case, all too often it turns out that drugs are involved somewhere.

What I do know is that the maximum sentence for a non-dwelling burglary is 10 years. Maybe it should be used more often.

FROM football hardman Vinnie Jones to Welsh singer Charlotte Church and soap star Patsy Kensit, the Clothes Show doors have opened to a cornucopia of stars in Brum over the years.

Other notables include Dawn French, socialite Tara Palmer-Tomkinson and singer Alexandra Burke who have all graced the event since it debuted in 1989.

This year the show stages its last event since moving to the city in 1990, before relocating to Liverpool next year. It takes place from tomorrow, Friday to Tuesday. Caryn Franklin MBE ran The Clothes Show for 12 years from 1986 to 1998.

As final preparations are made for the NEC's last Clothes Show Live, ALEX ROSS looks back at its colourful history

She said: "When I began presenting the BBC's Clothes Show as Fashion Editor of i-D Magazine back in 1986, I had no idea it would have such a far-reaching effect and long-term impact on public perception of the fashion industry.

"Our approach to showcasing high-end designer fashion alongside artisan and high street product together with personal and homemade creativity to celebrate all body types, ages and tastes caught the imagination of the nation and beyond." Among the now-famous models who were first found at the show were Brownhills-based model Erin O'Connor, Oliver Cheshire, Sami Rollinson and Rosie Tapner.

TV personalities were also unearthed – from Cat Deeley to Holly Willoughby and Vernon Kay. Presenters have also included Dermot O'Leary, Louise Redknapp, Gok Wan and Fearne Cotton. Music acts, dancers and models have also taken to the stage to entertain the crowds. They include Boyzone, JLS, Charlotte Church and Alexandra Burke.

This year the event is recognising and celebrating the talent of young people within the music industry.

It is carrying out a search to find a male and female artiste who will become the headline acts in the iconic Alcatel Fashion Theatre, in association with Capital FM.

At its launch in October, 1986 on the BBC, The Clothes Show was designed to bring high fashion to the general public, tackling issues such as sweatshops and eating disorders.

Viewing figures rose throughout the 1980s and 1990s, peaking to nine million on the Sunday night.

The live show has seen more than 100,000 visitors every December.

It has become an important day in the calendar to mark fashion history and heritage.

But it has not been without its problems over the years. In 1991 many people were actually snowed in because of the bad weather and had to stay at the NEC overnight.

Roseville calling... remember us?

I'M not sure if anyone knows the little village of Roseville, Coseley. That is of course anyone except the railway users at Coseley station, for two years now I along with other business owners have been constantly badgering Dudley Council regarding the parking issue, now I'm wondering if they realise we even exist!

Our car parks are blocked from 7am until 7pm. Every time you ring you're told, yes we're aware of the problem and it's being monitored.

We now have to park outside the village

Ditch the tired old rhetoric councillor

COUNCILLOR Khurshid Ahmed states that Dudley Council have come up with 'exciting proposals'. The proposals are simply to close three good leisure centres and build two.

Now what would be even more exciting and thrilling would be if the three were invested in properly and two new leisure centres were built to replace the ones already shut down in Brierley Hill and Coseley.

Instead we hear the same old tired rhetoric. They always tell us that the buildings are falling to bits. Here in Halesowen we are used to all that, because it was all said before. There was a change in political power and - Hey Presto! Halesowen Leisure Centre stayed open and they shut down Brierley Hill instead.

Of course, the real culprits are the Tories who are cutting and cutting services. They circle like vultures and can't wait to privatise the NHS.

In this area their cuts have closed the fire station, the ambulance station, the law courts and the social services office.

It is time that the Labour Council said enough is enough, but instead they make foolish statements about 'exciting proposals' as though we might actually believe such nonsense!

Keep all leisure centres open by investing in them.

The King is a true megastar

REGARDING the King, Elvis Presley. I think it's so brilliant to see the two albums of the King with the Royal Philharmonic Orchestra (If I Can Dream, The Wonder Of You) go to number one in the album charts - almost 40 years after his passing.

That makes it a record 13 number one albums, which sits proudly alongside his 21 number one singles, also a record.

A true megastar - a word loosely used for a lot of stars today.

Elvis Presley always wanted to sing with an orchestra, I hope we get more of these recordings.

He also sold more records than any other artist and spent more time in the charts than any other artist.

His music will never fade, a true great artist, no one else comes near.

Hippodrome is an 'eyesore'

HAVING read the article in Dudley Chronicle regarding the Hippodrome, I have a couple of questions to ask.

Who is going to fund this crazy scheme? Five million pounds is not easily raised. I only hope the tax payers are not funding it!

If these people are given the keys for five years that means the eyesore remains for six years at least.

I really cannot imagine that these people will be able to get the venue up and running but they should consider tidying up the frontage first.

Keep all leisure centres open by investing in them.

Fury at 'nonsense' figures for unhealthy Black Country

DUDLEY is the unhealthiest place in the UK followed by Walsall in second and Wolverhampton in sixth, according to figures from... a gambling company.

Dudley Council bosses have hit back, saying the figures are 'nonsense'. Walsall Council has reported Sports Betting Online, which compiled the figures, to the national health watchdog. The figures show the number of gyms, McDonald's outlets, restaurants, swimming pools, sports clubs, sporting events, public parks and cycle routes per 100,000 people.

Dudley was found to have the worst gym to population ratio with just three per 100,000. Walsall topped the statistics for the ratio of McDonald's outlets to people, with 14 per 100,000. Local authorities have rubbished the statistics, which they say has been compiled with 'little knowledge' of the region.

Dudley has at least 20 gyms with a population of around 300,000. This means its ratio of gym to people should be around six to 100,000, not the three to 100,000 suggested by the figures. Dudley has six McDonald's restaurants. This means the ratio would be around three to 100,000, not the ten to 100,000 suggested by the figures.

Unhelpful

Health boss Councillor Rachel Harris said: "Surveys such as this are unhelpful and confusing for people as they are often based on little knowledge of an area. In Dudley we have a very active programme of work to promote healthy lifestyles and tackle obesity. There are eight free outdoor gyms to use in our parks which accompany a packed programme of physical activity and healthy cooking sessions."

"Add to that our successful walking for health, the daily mile in schools, disability sports provision, exercise referral, Dudley food for health and the Dudley rowing programmes, it is clear to see we are working very hard to encourage fit and healthy lifestyles."

Caroline Brunt, chief nurse at Dudley CCG, said: "The loss of Feldon Lane Practice patient records in the recent fire has been reported as a serious incident and managed appropriately by the surgery staff. The protection of a patient's record is taken very seriously, however, we recognise that unpredictable events happen. Any losses of records are investigated to learn lessons."

Parents protest in support of warden

Parents and children join lollipop lady Gail Maiden at the protest calling for crossing wardens to be retained

ANGRY parents have stepped up their opposition to Dudley Council's plans to scrap school crossing patrols.

Around 30 parents protested outside Quarry Bank Primary School against the funding withdrawal for lollipop wardens in the borough.

Placards were held by concerned mums and dads, reading 'child safety not council cuts'.

Jennifer Walker, whose six-old-year old daughter attends the school, organised the campaign.

She said: "We are aware that Quarry Bank is one of the busiest roads in the borough and we were extremely upset that the council even thought of cutting it as it serves the school directly."

"Gail, who has been our lollipop lady for more than 15 years, is a staple in the school - she is absolutely golden and is there rain or shine."

"We are a thoroughfare for all nearby places in the Black Country and traffic can be very heavy."

"All parents are really concerned about this, crossing patrols should be sacrosanct."

Dudley Council currently funds the school crossing service but say the continuing reductions in funding from central government has prompted a review of the service in an effort to save £395,000.

The local authority is not legally required to fund the service and is suggesting alternatives, including schools funding the patrols themselves.

Body cams for 999 medics on agenda

AMBULANCE chiefs are considering whether to provide staff with body cameras after the number of attacks on paramedics in the Black Country and Staffordshire surged in the past six months.

A report by the West Midlands Ambulance Service revealed there were 57 assaults on staff in the Black Country and 35 in Staffordshire in the six months from April to September.

This compared to 89 in the Black Country and 29 in Staffordshire across the whole of the previous year.

In 2014/15, there were 70 assaults in the Black Country and 29 in Staffordshire.

It shows the number of attacks in the six-month period have risen to almost the level which had previously been seen in a whole year.

The figures also showed the attackers made no distinction between male and female medics. In fact, in the Black Country more female staff were attacked than their male colleagues during the six-month period.

A total of 29 women were assaulted, one more than the number of men.

In October, an ambulance on a 999 call was targeted by yobs who hurled food at the windscreen from a West Bromwich bridge. Two paramedics were allegedly threatened inside an ambulance in July as they responded to a call in Portobello, Willenhall.

Man appears in court after car crash tragedy

A 24-year-old man has appeared in court over the death of a teenage girl who was killed in a crash in Dudley.

Georgia Ann Evans, 18, from Himley, died in the crash involving her Ford Fiesta and an Audi on Priory Road, Kuba Oles, Beaconsfield Road, West Bromwich, charged with causing death by dangerous driving. He appeared at Wolverhampton Crown Court on Monday, but did not enter a plea. He appears again on January 9.

From heartbreak to fundraising to help Daisy

A FAMILY in Dudley have turned their heartbreak into a fundraising campaign after being told their newborn daughter has cystic fibrosis.

Mother-of-two Samantha Carrier struggled to cope after being told the news about newborn Daisy, which was detected from a heel prick test five days after being born.

Samantha and her partner Rob Evans, from Gornal, raised £676 within seven days of the diagnosis.

Samantha said: "We had a knock on the door from a nurse from Birmingham Children's Hospital telling us she had tested positive.

"We went straight to the hospital the next day to get the medication and get the process started and it was that day we decided we wanted to fundraise and put our minds to something else to raise awareness.

Shouting

"I couldn't really cope with it at first so I started a JustGiving page with an aim over £1,000 over 12 months but we've raised over half within a week.

"On the first day it got up to £500 which I couldn't believe because I was running around shouting when we only had £100.

"Ian Austin MP has also offered to help in any way he can."

Cystic fibrosis is a genetic condition in which the lungs and digestive system can become clogged with mucus - causing problems with breathing and digestion from a young age.

Over many years, the lungs become increasingly damaged and may eventually stop working properly.

A number of treatments are available to help reduce the problems caused by the condition, but unfortunately average life expectancy is reduced for people who have it.

Facing the future together - Samantha Carrier with daughters Daisy and Grace

Samantha's daughter Grace, two, also tries to lend Sam a hand when she can.

Grace helps as much as she can with things like banging on Daisy's chest and sides to move any mucus, she added.

Visit justgiving.com/fundraising/fordaiselyevans and supporters can also follow Daisy's story at www.facebook.com/fordaiselyevans/

Museum's bid to raise £10,000 in just 72 hours

THE Black Country Living Museum is launching a bid to raise £10,000 in 72 hours to bring its colliery back to life.

The popular open air museum is calling on the public to help reach the total.

Bosses have also teamed up with TheBigGive.org.uk which will match every donation pound for pound.

Revealing their plans a spokesman for the museum on Tipton Road said: "Coal mines and collieries were the heart and soul of the region. They fuelled the industrial development of the Black Country and helping to create the world we live in today."

"We want our visitors to be able to experience this story for themselves and to do this we're going to revitalise our Racecourse Colliery."

In order to complete the work the museum staff need to raise £205,000.

So far £80,000 has been collected with donations from sources such as Arts Council England and the Owen Family Trust.

Challenge

The museum has already raised £80,000 from sources, including Arts Council England and the Owen Family Trust, but in order to complete the work are looking to raise £205,000 in total.

Between Tuesday this week and tomorrow (Friday) the museum is taking part in The Big Give's #ChristmasChallenge with the aim of raising £10,000 in 72 hours.

Once all the money is secured and the project is finished visitors will be able to see Charlie, the museum's pit pony, pull a tub along the restored tramway. Museum chiefs fear the tub tramway could be lost forever unless investment is made.

The museum also plans to install a actors to talk about the region's history and provide stories of real people who once worked at the colliery.

A video about the project is available to view on The Big Give website.

People can make donations from noon on November 29 to the appeal. Visit www.bclm.co.uk for details.

Artists' 88th and last display at gallery

Artists Keith Turley, Lynn Jeffery and society chairman Terry Glazebrook at the town gallery's last exhibition

THE Dudley Society of Artists is holding its last exhibition at the town's museum and art gallery, a few weeks before the venue closes.

The art group's 88th exhibition is to be the last at the St James's Road gallery. It opened on Saturday with 130 works by local artists on display.

When the free admission exhibition closes on December 22, so too will the building, ending a long relationship between the venue and the society. The museum is due to move to a new base at the Dudley Archives centre on Tipton Road, near the Black Country Living Museum.

Artist and society member Keith Turley said: "It is a big blow but it is not going to stop our club and we will still exhibit at other Black Country venues."

The museum and gallery building is closing to the public as part of money-saving measures by Dudley Council.

Store on pub car park

A NEW £1m Co-op store will be built on the car park of a Black Country pub after planning bosses gave the green light.

The new shop will be constructed next to the Hare and Hounds on Wynnall Lane, Stourbridge, with the pub also getting an investment of around £75,000.

Developer NewRiver Retail Ltd

was granted planning permission by Dudley Council, despite objections, and said that up to 20 jobs could be created.

The development firm said money would also be spent revamping the Hare and Hounds.

Dangerous

But Cradley and Wollscote Ward Councillor Richard Body was against the development because of more traffic on an already 'dangerous' road.

"Having parking there would make the road even more dangerous," he said. "Accidents happen on a regular basis. We have the main road with a blind bend and a bus stop next door to a pub, which will have half of its car park gone. Parking already takes place on the pavement."

The 326 square metre one-storey store will be built on part of the car park, which was described as 'currently underutilised' in the planning application.

Mr Jewkes tests the old fire siren during his visit to Dudley

Love me tender – Mr Jewkes checks over the machinery left at the old factory fire station

Firefighter 'Little Mike' takes a trip back in time

A FORMER firefighter has travelled back in time to a recently discovered, perfectly preserved factory fire station in Dudley, where he used to work.

Michael Jewkes, aged 80, said it was an 'emotional to revisit the old station, which has been gathering dust for 60 years, and was only recently uncovered inside the Alan Nuttall Partnership factory on Hall Street.

Mr Jewkes' name is one of those on jackets still hanging at the lost station, which was set up by his former employer the Co-operative Wholesale Society to tackle any fires that might arise in the course of manufacturing items for local Co-op stores.

Michael's journey into his past began after his granddaughter spotted the story on the Express & Star website.

Mr Jewkes, who now lives in Lowestoft, explained: "All the family are originally from the area. My granddaughter lives in Yeovil but she still reads the Express & Star online. She saw the story about it being discovered and told me, I called the number and spoke to Anna at the Alan Nuttall Partnership Trust and they arranged for me to come and visit."

Frozen

He added: "I must admit, I was like a two-year-old child with a stick of rock. I couldn't believe it after all this time."

Nothing could have prepared Michael for just how much remained intact, almost as if it had been frozen in time, down to the neatly rolled-up canvas hoses still on the walls.

Particularly evocative for him was seeing all the names of his former colleagues scrawled in chalk above the jackets.

"I could hear all of the voices and all of the banter. I could remember the nicknames. I was very tall so they used to call me Little Mike," he said.

"I hadn't been back for 54 years. It was very emotional. I was remembering all of my comrades. We used to look out for each other, like a big family."

Mr Jewkes explained how between 1960 and 1964 he worked at the factory making safes for the supermarket business, but twice a week he would go for training as a firefighter in the company's small brigade of about 25. This included learning life-saving skills such as resuscitation.

He was relieved that he never had to put this into practice.

"The biggest job we had was probably when the paint shop caught fire, and the van was set alight. But fortunately everyone was out safely," he said.

He and his comrades proved their mettle in a competition with other Co-op forces with Mr Jewkes named champion. A certificate in recognition of this remains on display in the room.

In action for an exercise to test firefighting skills, Michael Jewkes during his time in uniform

Thousands of fans join in tribute to brave Lydia

THOUSANDS of football fans paid a moving tribute to young Lydia Pearce Ameson, the Dudley girl who died from a rare illness last week.

A packed Molineux – some 28,000 supporters – marked the passing of the 15-year-old Wolves fan on the 15th minute during the match on Saturday by providing a minute of applause in her honour.

Lydia's family and friends were welcomed by Wolves in an executive box as the club hosted Sheffield Wednesday in a Championship match.

Fans of both teams paid their respects to Lydia, who was diagnosed with Neurofibromatosis Type 1 when she was just 18 months old.

The illness is a rare genetic condition which causes tumours to grow along nerves.

Crowd

Wolves were losing after conceding from the penalty spot but that made no difference to the outpouring of emotion, with the club's biggest home crowd in 18 months applauding the youngster.

All around Molineux tens of thousands of people stood up to applaud, including almost three thousand of the fans from Yorkshire.

The Express & Star's Wolves reporter Tim Spiers said: "It was a thunderous ovation, despite the fact the team had just gone behind. It was a really emotional moment."

Sarah Ameson, her mother, said: "It was fantastic and there was a little star above us and we said that was Lydia."

"Everyone at the Wolves looked after us so well and we would like to offer a huge thank you for all their support."

"There were nine of us all together

Wolves' Danny Bath visited Lydia

Fans pay tribute to Dudley Wolves fan Lydia Ameson during the 15th minute including Lydia's uncles, godfather and three of her friends.

The atmosphere was amazing. Her name even shot up on the big screen in the Molineux. It was just perfect."

Captain Danny Bath visited Lydia's home in Dudley last month to hand over a signed shirt to the Bishop Milner Catholic College pupil.

Her mother said: "She was a beautiful and confident girl who loved her family and friends very much. She loved music, dancing and theatre. She had also done a Bake-Off style charity fundraiser in aid of Neurofibromatosis."

A JustGiving page which was set up for Lydia has raised nearly £10,000. To donate visit www.justgiving.com/crowdfunding/lydiaperceameson

Bright ideas for home as we head into winter

ANTIQUES AND COLLECTIBLES

with John Ridgway of Perry & Phillips

GIVEN the foul weather this week, I thought it would be nice to take a look around our homes and add some seasonal colour to help fight off those winter blues.

And there are all kinds of vintage items you could pick up in the saleroom to help do this, starting with attractive containers for dried flowers, twisted willow, firethorn or foliage that will instantly transform any room into a brighter place.

You can easily pick up some nice pieces at auction, go along to the viewing days and see what you can find – and you won't have to spend too much money.

Look out for prettily decorated china jugs, the taller the better, but make sure you check for cracks to ensure the jug is waterproof if you want it for fresh flowers.

Glass jugs and vases look great and you may be able to pick these up in some lovely autumnal colours, again look out for any cracks or chips before you buy.

Earthenware containers are always nice, large ones are perfect for displays of foliage in halls or sitting rooms, standing on the floor.

China vases in bright colours or featuring attractive designs are ideal for autumnal displays of flowers or foliage, even small ones will cheer up the corner of a room.

Unusual containers also look good, a pretty vintage soup tureen would provide a home for a larger display or a winter indoor plant.

Then think about adding some lamps with colourful shades to provide some much-needed extra light.

Tiffany lamps in particular are especially attractive and you can pick up some nice reproduction ones if you don't want to pay out for originals.

Potpourri is good in vintage bowls and glasses and looks especially nice displayed in layers in old glass vases.

Coloured candles, either standing alone or in groups, also add that extra cheery light, look out for gold and silver ones, and tea-lights can be housed in anything from a tea-cup to a wooden goblet.

You can even make going out in the rain slightly more pleasant by keeping umbrellas in a colourful umbrella stand or vintage plant bowl by your front door (add a Victorian umbrella and a walking stick for effect).

So have a good browse around the saleroom to see what you can find to add that extra seasonal cheer.

Perry and Phillips Auctioneers hold sales of antiques and collectables on the first Tuesday of each month. Valuation days, for sale items only, are held every Wednesday at the Mill Street saleroom in

Low Town, Bridgnorth, from 10am until 4pm. The next sale takes place on this Tuesday, December 6, viewing is during the weekend and on the Monday prior to the sale. # Get your geek on with Jonathan's sci-fi novel

AS ambitions go, one Halesowen man is ticking off his list of things to achieve at some pace – adding author to the mix.

Jonathan Hipkiss spends his days working on a Cradley industrial estate but his passion for creativity knows no bounds.

He is an up-and-coming stand-up comedian, having supported Jack Whitehall at Birmingham's Barclaycard Arena; starred alongside respected actor Toby Jones in BBC's critically acclaimed drama Marvelous and co-written a live sketch show, performed at last year's Edinburgh Fringe.

Novel

Now aged 25, Jonathan has just released his first novel.

The former Windsor High School student – who went on to study professional acting at Birmingham Theatre School – enjoys running, writing, performing, but his greatest love is for all things Star Wars.

It was inevitable that his novel would be in the science fiction genre.

Rise of the Geeks: Following an Alien Invasion! is a lighthearted take on the genre, poignantly examining the lost innocence of youth in a coming-of-age tale as four boys forced to tackle things they fear most – life, love, and loss.

"While there are no direct comparisons to anyone I know in the book, in some way, the main four characters, the geeks/boys, are each a little part of me and loosely based on my experiences as a geek and my inept ways with women," said Jonathan.

"The adventure aspect of the story came from my love of movies and my desire to escape the real world. I'd rather be watching Star Wars than the news, though doing stand-up means you have to keep up to date with the world."

The book focuses on a group of friends, Chilvers, Matt, Tom, and Mark are about to have their mundane existences thrown into chaos when four tiny aliens crash-land into their lives.

"After I've finished promoting the book, myself and my comedy partner, Sam, will take to writing a new hour long show over Christmas which we plan to take on the road and return to next year's Edinburgh Fringe Festival.

The book is available to buy online via Amazon or contact the author directly for a discount (£10 including postage) or to have a copy signed via jon\_h2005@hotmail.co.uk

Debt hits the lives of 45,000 children

MORE than 45,000 children in the Black Country are living in families trapped in problem debt, a national charity has revealed.

It means that one in six families with children in the region have been failing to keep up with household bills and loan repayments in the past year.

The evidence, based on a survey commissioned by The Children's Society, also showed that families with children are more than twice as likely to have been trapped in problem debt as childless households.

In some cases children are going without basics such as food, clothing or heating, as well as suffering worry, anxiety and bullying.

The figures show that Sandwell has the biggest problem with 7,300 families in serious debt, affecting 13,000 children, followed by Walsall with 7,100 families, including a total of 12,600, with debt problems.

Dudley has 5,600 families in a similar situation, affecting 10,000 children, and Wolverhampton 9,400 families, including 9,600 children, in trouble with debt.

Concerned

The charity says it is 'deeply concerned' about the impact of debt.

The survey of 2,000 adults, carried out by Opinium, found that families in problem debt over the last year are juggling an average of four different types of debt.

Children in low-income families with multiple debts are at far higher risk of experiencing mental health

Thousands more homes are given the green light

A PLAN to deliver thousands of new homes and jobs in Birmingham can be given the go-ahead by the Government. The Birmingham Development Plan (BDP), which sets out a 15-year strategy, can now be formally adopted and approved by Birmingham City Council.

Housing Minister Gavin Barwell lifted a 'holding direction' which had prevented the BDP from progressing, pending investigation into proposals to earmark land in the Sutton Coldfield green belt for housing and employment. Mr Barwell said he agreed the scale of unmet housing demand in Birmingham was 'exceptional and possibly unique'.

Conclusions

The Housing Minister said he saw no reason to disagree with the conclusions an inspector that the BDP was consistent with national planning policy and should be adopted. The plan sets out proposals to address the city's housing crisis by building 51,000 homes, including up to 6,000 in Sutton Coldfield. The green belt land was identified after a city search to identify locations for more homes on previously developed land, known as brownfield sites, had apparently gone as far as it could.

Research by the council concluded that 89,000 homes are required over the next 15 years to meet the needs of Birmingham's growing population. Councillor John Clancy, leader of Birmingham City Council, said: "We can now get on with the vital task of building homes and delivering the jobs that our fast-growing population so desperately needs."

Pretty Paxos offers haven of calm and relaxation

"LAKKACHATTA swinda lactu," says my six-year-old daughter Rosie, pencil poised on a notepad.

"Yasi," comes the reply from her sister Poppy, four, who's sat at the table. "Ikk tabu."

It's a new game they've started playing since we landed in sunny Greece. They're being waitresses and making an effort to grasp the local language.

It's been 15 years since I last visited this country.

Back then, it was all booze and bathing, but this time I'm here with my family, discovering a land more akin to the one Gerald Durrell wrote about in My Family And Other Animals, when he wished he could give everyone the gift of his wonderful childhood.

After flying into Corfu, we hop on the hydrofoil and bob across the ocean for an hour to pretty Paxos – the smallest of the Ionian Islands, and said to be similar to the Corfu Durrell adored as a child.

With winding roads, gorgeously green plants, an azur sea and villas dotting every corner of the three main villages, it's clear this is a part of the world that's made for exploring.

Our villa, Milou, is a grand affair – set off the beaten track at the top of a hill – with nothing surrounding but a handful of other properties.

The front door opens into an enormous games room, with a very cool, electric blue billiards table. We make downstairs our slumber zone, with a main bedroom leading out to the poolside, and a calming twin room, painted to match Greece's country colours of blue and white. The kitchen-dining area is spacious, white and welcoming, but we spend most of our days outside.

The infinity pool provides hours of entertainment for the kids – and Daddy, who loves nothing more than drenching them with a running dive-bomb. And the view, looking out towards the Pindus mountains, is enough to take the relaxation factor up a notch or two.

Mind you, there's a cackle of hysterics as the volume on the docking station reaches ear-piercing levels, belting out club classics in the blazing sunshine. I emerge from the pool to see my husband James throwing some serious shapes, shouting, 'Pool party', while our children giggle at his moves and attempt to join in.

We spend our days gorging on Greek salad with fat and furiously red tomatoes, crunchy cucumber, giant lumps of local feta cheese and lashings of olive oil and oregano. And come the evening, James lights the BBQ and cooks the most enormous sausages ever seen, pork and chicken kebabs, giant peppers, and what can only be described as a 'nine-bar' of halloumi, all bought in the local shops at Gaios, the island's capital, and beautiful Loggos, both just a few miles away. It's cheap too – we easily buy enough meat to feed us all, with masses of leftovers, for nine Euros at the old-fashioned butcher's.

A car is essential here. Even just getting supplies for the villa is tricky without wheels. And it means you can explore this beautiful, unspoilt island with ease.

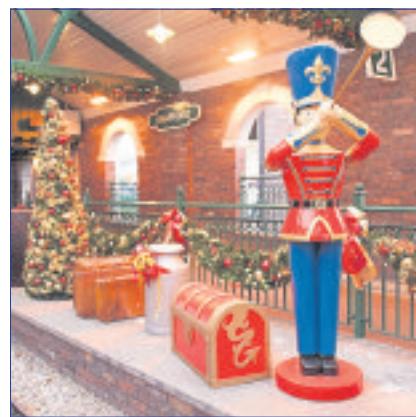

Measuring around a mere eight miles from one end to the other, Paxos doesn't take long to get around, though roads can be tricky to navigate. We easily get lost amid rural roads, while trying to avoid pedestrians, shush unbelievably excited children and translate Greek road signs. We pass giant pots planted up with cacti, aloe vera and lavender, watched over by gnarly old olive trees, as holey as honeycomb.

We drive past a school with signs warning us that children cross here, but there's no one to be seen. When compared with overcrowded Corfu, it seems crazy that so few make the extra journey to experience the peace of Paxos.

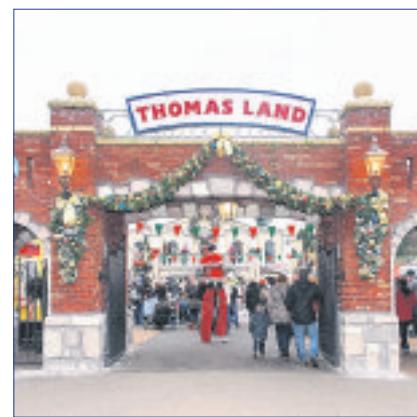

We find a craggy bit of headland near Lakka, Paxos' most northerly tip, where giant rocks peer over and stand tall from the sea. I investigate a growing green mass with bulbous, almost pod-like ends, that I'm certain must be edible. I look around to ask someone, but there isn't a soul to be seen – just the four of us, deserted on our own idyllic coastline.

"It's like a sunset in the sea," says Rosie, describing how the ocean changes from clear to turquoise, into azure and navy. And I smile, thinking Durrell would have been pleased with her description. When we return to England's less sunny shores, I ask if they'd like to holiday in Paxos again. "Yakka chakka!" comes the reply. I'll take that as a yes.

Decorations and special displays throughout the park

All ready for Christmas at Thomas Land, Drayton Manor

Get into the festive spirit with Thomas and friends

Santa and 'snow' at magical theme park

WE'RE usually much later with our annual visit to Santa, squeezing it in the week before Christmas when present lists are finally finalised.

However, this year our family was invited to kick off the festive season early, with a visit to Drayton Manor Theme Park's Magical Christmas for a special preview.

It may still be November, but we're now well and truly full of the festive spirit after spending a delightful day with Santa and his reindeer, making presents for meerkats and being covered in 'snow'.

There was even ice-skating on the indoor Slide & Glide, which delighted eight-year-old Zoe. Although the larger park rides were closed, there was still enough to entertain children of all ages as well as the 'big kids'.

A highlight for us, with older children, was the Ben 10 Ultimate Mission Rollercoaster. With hardly any queues, it had plenty of use by the four of us. After that, and lunch, the more leisurely pace of the traditional Carousel was appreciated and we were treated to a fantastic 4D cinema experience with the Polar Express, a 15-minute adventure shown throughout the day.

Taking a walk around the zoo, the children were thrilled to see the meerkats and lemurs enjoying the 'presents' they had made for them at a mini workshop when we arrived. It was lovely to step inside the warmth of the reptile house where many people remarked that the animals appeared much more active than usual – maybe they were all excited by the special visitors from the North Pole. Santa's reindeer have pride of place at the entrance of the zoo, with their pen decorated with giant baubles. They looked like they were getting plenty of rest before their big job pulling the sleigh on Christmas Eve.

Drayton Manor visitors can see Santa at The Castle of Dreams and we eagerly arrived at our time slot to be greeted by two cheerful elves. Inside the castle, the decorations were beautiful and seeing Santa was just as magical as we had hoped. George, 11, was lost for words as Santa told him to stop arguing with his sister, while Zoe couldn't stop grinning. With four weeks to go until Christmas, there could be another advantage to visiting Santa so early – if they both keep their promise to be good.

We spent the rest of the afternoon enjoying the rides in Thomas Land, with favourites including the Troublesome Trucks Runaway Rollercoaster and Bertie Bus. This part of the park has undergone a £2.5 million expansion and there is a new two-storey Sodor Airport complex with VIP suites available for private hire.

Thomas Land became a real winter wonderland with flurries of 'snow' throughout the day courtesy of a special machine and there were balcony shows where you could meet the characters. There was also plenty of festive music being played and, as it began to get dark, the Christmas lights created the perfect atmosphere. Plenty of pictures were taken by the giant Christmas tree and the day was rounded off with a parade and a dazzling fireworks display.

For us it was a great way to experience the theme park at a time of year we would not normally think of going. And we will be sure to return for the new season in 2017, as each child who visits Santa receives a golden ticket for a free visit.

Just an hour's drive from Shropshire, the park, near Tamworth, has a selection of packages available for the Christmas period for its four-star hotel. Ticket prices for Drayton's Magical Christmas including Santa start at £22 per adult and £17 for children and over 60s. Children aged 2-3 cost £12 and under twos are free. There is free entry to both serving and non-serving members of the armed forces. Drayton's Magical Christmas is open tomorrow (Friday) until Monday and from December 2-5, 9-12, 15-23 and 27-31. ## SPOTLIGHT ON TIPTON

Currency: Pork scratching. GBP is available in some outlets.

Brief overview: In honour of all things Steve Bull, we present to you our finest, most unique and undoubtedly our most unexpected holiday destination – Tipton. It has everything you could possibly need like boxing connections, great chip shops, more pork scratchings than anywhere else in the world, brilliant pubs and more. Viz Comic famously reported that Jesus was born in Tipton – ha, and here's all us fools imagining he was born in Jerusalem. Oh yes, and Tipton also lent its name to the brilliant Lazy Cow Doreen Tipton, who plans to ape American President Donald Trump by building a wall around the Black Country to keep out illegal Brummies.

Where to stay: While Tipton doesn't have the same range of hotels as Tokyo or Paris, it offers a number of delightful B&Bs. Expect a full English for breakfast and change from £50.

What to do: The choices are endless.

And no, we ay pullin' ya leg. Tipton is so steeped in history that it has its own Heritage Trail. Visit the Factory Locks, Victoria Park, Tipton Carnegie Centre – which is not to be confused with the Carnegie Hall in New York – or the Cast Iron Roving Bridges, over local canals.

Then there's St John's Church and St Mark's Church, The Old Line Canal, Malthouse Stables, The Boat Gauging House and, best of all, The Tipton

Slasher statue near to The Fountain Inn. The Slasher, as all Tiptonians know, was a British heavyweight prize fighter in the 19th century and English champion from 1850-57. Alternatively, follow in the footsteps of Black Country legend Steve Bull, whose first school was Wednesbury Oak Primary and who then attended Willingworth High, where he made a name. Tipton Town's stadium is opposite Wednesday Oak – and Asda's just up the road, so you can fill up on fuel if your car's running low.

What to eat/drink: Scratchings, a pint of Bathams and a bag of chips. Alternatively, pop into Mad O'Rourke's Pie Factory, the home of Desperate Dan's Cow Pie and the almost-legendary pint of Lumphammer.

New chancellor Sir Lenny believes in learning for all

EDUCATION is a right for everyone and not an 'accident of birth', said Sir Lenny Henry as the Dudley-born actor and comedian became a university chancellor.

In his first speech as Birmingham City University's new chancellor, Sir Lenny, 58, talked about how he grew up believing that education was 'not for the likes of me', and did not begin studying for qualifications until he was an adult.

Sir Lenny, who received a knighthood last year, told an audience at Birmingham Town Hall: "I grew up with the belief that education was not intended for the likes of me."

Cousin used murderer victim's bank card

THE cousin of murdered Richard Groves was involved in a fraud to take money from his bank account after his death, a court heard.

Homeless Darren Lander was jailed for more than 15 years last month after he savagely killed 32-year-old Mr Groves, after Mr Groves had felt sorry for him and allowed him to stay at his flat at Alfred Gunn House in Thompson Road, Langley.

At Walsall Magistrates Court, Christopher Bonner, 38-year-old cousin of Mr Groves, admitted one charge of fraud by false representation where he used Mr Groves' bank card at the Post Office on High Street, Oldbury, two days after his death.

The transaction, made after Bonner was given the card by Lander, only totalled £2. But the court heard that in the weeks following the murder, Bonner and Philip McEvoy, 42, from Yardley Close, Oldbury, used the card a several times, withdrawing around £500 that the pair spent on drugs.

Ms Alka Brigue, prosecuting, said that McEvoy had been given the card by Bonner, while each's defence solicitor said neither man knew that the card belonged to the deceased Mr Groves.

Prosecuting, McEvoy, who pleaded guilty to nine counts of fraud by false representation, Ms Brigue said: "When officers examined the body of Mr Groves, they saw that his pockets were turned inside out and began to investigate his financial affairs. They saw that in the days since his death, there had been activity on

Council is offering condensation advice

DUDLEY Council is helping residents tackle condensation in their homes with a new advice leaflet and video on its website.

Anyone experiencing such a problem can download an advice leaflet and view a video on the Dudley Council www.dudley.gov.uk website.

Condensation is caused when warm moist air comes into contact with cold air or a cold surface, causing water droplets to form. This is particularly an issue during winter when homes are warmer than outside.

Housing boss Councillor Gaye Partridge said: "Condensation and mould can be a particular problem during the winter months so we produced a leaflet and a video which work hand in hand."

"These items have been produced primarily with council tenants in mind, but are relevant to anyone experiencing condensation in their home."

"It was tough going, but I got through it."

"I was 46 before I got my first degree with the Open University and, while a comparative latecomer to higher education - whose career largely relied on securing a BA or an MA after my name - that experience changed my life. It opened my mind to more possibilities and new thinking and different perspectives."

He added: "Being chancellor of Birmingham City University is a chance for me to give back, to contribute something to the generation of young people leaving school now and to those people coming back to education - mature students - who, like me, missed out on the chance when they were younger."

"This institution understands that education is a right, not an accident of birth."

Sir Lenny Henry sits and chats with students at Birmingham City University, where he's now chancellor

Electric cars spark 10,000 jobs hope

THE boss of Jaguar Land Rover wants to make new electric vehicles in the West Midlands, creating 10,000 new jobs at JLR and up to 60,000 more in its supply chain across the region.

Ralf Speth has also outlined ambitions to double JLR's car production to one million vehicles a year by 2020 - and double its workforce to 90,000. The plans were outlined as a meeting of political and business leaders at Warwick University on Thursday night, organised by Professor Lord Kumar Bhattacharya, a close adviser to JLR and its Indian owners, Tata Motors. He is also head of the university's Warwick Manufacturing Group.

Lord Bhattacharya said JLR wanted to start work on the electric cars project at Coventry by 2018, with cars going into production by 2019. It follows the launch of JLR's first electric car, the I-Pace, in Los Angeles last week. It will be built in Austria 'because we couldn't do it fast enough in this country,' said Lord Bhattacharya.

"But the next generation will be done here, hopefully," he added. "That will create 10,000 jobs. That could literally be another 50,000 to 60,000 jobs among suppliers."

"Lighting really matters in a home and can literally transform it," promises George Clarke, architect and TV's popular property presenter of George Clarke's Amazing Spaces and The Restoration Man.

"I've seen great buildings ruined by bad lighting schemes, and great lighting improve bad buildings. It can truly make that much difference."

"What's fantastic these days, is that there are affordable, effective ways of personally tailoring lighting schemes, using technology like smart phones and tablets, which a decade ago, would have costs thousands."

Clarke, who's currently working with Philips lighting, believes good lighting doesn't just have a visual effect, but can also help improve our wellbeing.

"Artificial light can now mimic natural light and light systems can be programmed to suit our body rhythms."

By Gabrielle Fagan

evening can help people relax and encourage relaxation and sleep, while gradually increasing light levels in the morning to mimic sunrise can encourage us to wake in a more gentle fashion.

"Lights conjuring the effect of natural sunlight indoors may offset the negative effect of a grey day outside. There's almost no limit to what can be achieved."

Brightness

Recent research by B&Q revealed that 85% of us have no idea which bulb brightness is best to suit a task or set a mood. Clarke gives his guide to LED lighting...

"In general, people are scared by lighting and confused by all the terminology."

"That's a real shame because LED lighting is so versatile these days. For instance, there's a misconception that it's a cold light, but the key to success is selecting the right colour temperature of the bulb, which is measured in a unit called a kelvin (k)," he explains. "Bulbs with higher kelvin value create a cooler, crisp white light (4000k) which are suitable for practical areas, like kitchen or bathroom, while those with a lower kelvin value (3000k) produce a warmer white light more appropriate for living rooms."

"Replicating a soothing sunset glow in the

If you want to easily change the ambience, there are innovations like a Philips Scene Switch LED light bulb (£9.99, Amazon) which allows you to use your light switch to flick between three different light levels, from bright to natural to a soft warm light. This bulb can be used on an existing light [simply using your normal light switch to change between settings] and removes the need for a dimmer."

LIGHT TOUCH

"A common mistake people make is only having light coming from one source – for instance, simply having a ceiling light. In reality, good lighting is achieved by creating different layers of light which conjure variation, texture and atmosphere," says Clarke. "Clever accent lighting – wall sconces, floodlights, recessed lights or track lighting – can dramatically change a space and highlight key areas or architectural features. Even just hanging an adjustable pendant light over a dining table will define the space and make it feel more intimate. Coloured lighting is also a fantastic way to add a 'wow' factor, especially if the light source is hidden. Use coloured light strips above kitchen units, but, to get the maximum effect, keep the background a neutral white as a contrast."

SEE THE LIGHTS: Nothing makes more of a statement than an intricately designed chandelier and, for a modern approach, fit one in an unexpected place like a kitchen or a bathroom. Debenhams has an impressive lighting collection with the added bonus that many pieces are currently reduced online. A Scarlett Black Chandelier, with smoke and clear glass crystal strands, is reduced from £395 to £316, and a Penelope Pendant Ceiling Light, featuring layers of smoke glass cylinders, reduced from £320 to £256. Cluster lights are ultra-fashionable and its contemporary Harrison Cluster Ceiling Light is down from £150 to £120.

Very's Glass Cloche Ceiling Light, £99, blends modern with traditional style, with a clear glass dome showcasing a cluster of light strings, and another winner in its collection is a Forest Pendant with etched tree design, £19.

Dar Lighting, which has nationwide stockists, has super pendant lights and I particularly like its Tower Cluster Pendant, RRP £118.80. Pared-back designs allow materials to shine and B&Q's Jona's Wire Copper Pendant Ceiling Light, £47, is a good example of that approach. Urban Cottage Industries, specialists in vintage and industrial lighting, which offers bespoke lights, has a funky Green Large Balloon Light Bulb Cage, from £55.44. Experiment with coloured light with a Philips Hue LED Iris Light Colour Changing Mood Smart Lamp, £70, B&Q.

TRICK OF THE LIGHT

"Lighting should be flexible, so you can zone different areas and alter light levels to change mood, atmosphere or focus it to better suit a specific activity," says Clarke. "A good scheme allows you to instantly reinvent a space – or, in increasingly popular open-plan living rooms, the areas within the space – without having to change a room's overall layout."

"There are so many ways to draw the eye. Bare bulbs are very much on-trend, as are metallic finishes and sculptural shapes. Table lights are a really good way to partition areas in a room, so a light on a side table behind a sofa will create a visual break in an open plan room."

"Do bear in mind colours and surfaces reflect and absorb light in different ways. Shiny materials like satin, silk and metal bounce light around a room, whereas darker, denser materials, such as wool and velvet, soak up light."

SEE THE LIGHTS: Show off your style credentials with lights inspired by the gaudy stars of the fairground. The fun Marquee collection at Debenhams has a selection: Flamingo Light, £150; Burst Star and Rainbow Floor Lights, both currently reduced online from £150 to £120; Lightening Bolt Floor Light, down from £95 to £76, and Cactus Floor Light, currently reduced from £125 to £100.

Laura Ashley's Odham Antique Brass Desk Lamp, currently £87.50, down from £125, is a classic and its matching Sphere Pendant Light is £122.50. Adjustable lights are super-useful and Marks & Spencer's Loft Adjustable Table Lamp, £99, has a matching Table Lamp, £45.

Police use lorry cab cam to video mobile phone use

MORE than 230 motorists have been caught by motorway police putting lives at risk by using a mobile phone at the wheel.

Officers from the Central Motorway Police Group (CMPG) have been using an unmarked lorry cab to catch distracted drivers breaking the law on the region's motorway network, including the M54, M5, M6 and M42.

The three-week operation coincided with a national mobile phone enforcement initiative. Between November 7 and 14 a total of 233 drivers were fined for using a mobile phone at the wheel and 21 others were reported for not paying attention to the road, including someone watching YouTube.

Observe

The CMPG – a partnership between West Mercia, Staffordshire and West Midlands police forces – is leading the crackdown with Highways England to increase road safety.

The elevated, plain white cab allows officers to observe unsuspecting lorry drivers and look down on motorists in cars or other light vehicles to see if they are committing an offence. An officer sat alongside the driver is able to video for evidence.

Studies show driver reaction times when using a mobile are 30 per cent slower than someone who is just above the drink drive limit.

Research has also indicated that drivers using mobile phones are four times more likely to be involved in a crash involving damage to property or serious injury.

Angry father commits first ever crime on island

A FATHER from Dudley has become the first person ever to commit a crime on a tiny holy island off the Welsh coast.

The 45-year-old holidaymaker was seen disciplining his 'misbehaving' seven-year-old son at a chocolate factory on Caldey Island, near the popular holiday resort of Tenby, a court in Haverfordwest was told.

The father was seen shouting at the boy before lifting him up by the throat and slapping him on the head, magistrates heard. The father, who cannot be named for legal reasons, admitted assaulting his son after witnesses called the police.

Just 40 monks live on the mile-and-a-half-long island, which is off the Pembrokeshire coast. It is so remote that police had to be carried by lifeboat the two miles to the island to make the arrest. The incident was revealed when the arrested holidaymaker appeared in court on the mainland.

The holy island has a monastery for 18 Cistercian monks and a handful of tourists – but with no criminal activity in living memory. But for the first time in September it recorded a single crime of violence, which led to the Black Country father appearing before Haverfordwest Magistrates Court, where he admitted assault.

Mr Dennis Davies, prosecuting, said other shocked visitors told police how the incident took place as they stood outside the chocolate factory on the island, which attracts boat loads of tourists.

farmers – but with no criminal activity in living memory. But for the first time in September it recorded a single crime of violence, which led to the Black Country father appearing before Haverfordwest Magistrates Court, where he admitted assault.

Mr Dennis Davies, prosecuting, said other shocked visitors told police how the incident took place as they stood outside the chocolate factory on the island, which attracts boat loads of tourists.

Shouting

He said: "The man was said to be shouting at the boy before lifting him up with an outstretched arm by the throat, before putting him down, slapping him on the back of the head and frog marching him away."

The court heard a visitor shouted 'that's child abuse,' at the father. Police were called to the island to arrest the 45-year-old.

He told police his son was 'being naughty and wouldn't listen' – and almost fell down some steps.

Mr Davies said: "He told police that in no way did he intend to hurt him but accepted that he had been unreasonable. He explained that his son had ADHD and was on the autistic spectrum."

Mr Mike Kelleher, defending, said: "The boy doesn't like crowds and queuing, and doesn't see danger as others do."

"The father said his son was misbehaving and running up and down the steps, and he was concerned he would hurt himself or others. The father is deeply upset and didn't want to hurt his son."

The man was released on bail while reports are prepared.

Before the assault, official crime statistics have recorded a zero for Caldey Island for anti-social behaviour, theft, burglary, arson, drugs, public order, vehicle crime, robbery and possession of offensive weapons.

The island, which has a population of 40, has had a monastery for more than 1,500 years. The monks observe a vow of silence between 7pm and 7am, outside usual hours tourists can reach the island. The monks were described as being concerned by the assault.

200 officers to be taken on to tackle cyber crime menace

WEST Midlands Police will take on 200 officers to tackle cyber crime. The recruits will be in addition to 800 new officers set to join the force by 2020.

Police and Crime Commissioner David Jamieson has made tackling cyber crime one of his key priorities over the next four years as part of his police and crime plan.

Mr Jamieson said cyber crime, such as fraud and terrorism, was one of the biggest challenges facing the force today. Increasing reports of 'hidden crimes', such as domestic violence and child sexual exploitation, and greater support for victims are also key targets.

Mr Jamieson said: "This plan will make sure we crack down on traditional crimes and continue to protect the public from threats like cyber crime, child sexual exploitation and domestic abuse. The recruitment of 200 specialist staff will enable that."

Roles

At the end of August, the force announced it would take on more than 1,100 new police officers, PCSOs and other staff in its biggest recruitment drive for six years.

The force, which has lost nearly one fifth of its officers since Home Office police cuts started in 2010, said it would take on 1,150 new starters over the next three years.

The posts include 800 new PCs, 200 specialist staff in a range of roles, such as investigators, and 150 PCSOs.

The force, which has lost nearly one fifth of its officers since Home Office police cuts started in 2010, will take on 1,150 new starters over the next three years. From September 2009 up until September 2015 WMP's workforce has reduced from 8,694 to 7,043 – a cut of 1,651 staff.

Cyrille Regis with a model of the statue which is to be unveiled in West Bromwich

Statue is a degree closer

A LONG-AWAITED statue honouring Albion's famous 'Three Degrees' could be in place in West Bromwich town centre for the start of next season.

The plan to honour the Albion legends has been hit by delays.

The businessman behind the project said raising £220,000 needed to make the bronze statue a reality had taken longer than anticipated but he was hopeful it would be ready for next summer.

The story about how the three were pioneers for black players in the 1970s, when racism was still rife on the terraces across England, featured as part of the Whites vs Blacks BBC2 TV documentary broadcast this week. It told about the famous Len Cantello testimonial match in 1979.

Mr Cadman said: "The statue is cast. We are working to have it unveiled for next season."

Sit Down and get up for James gig

Tim Booth, centre, as James play one of the festival dates that have made them perennial British rock scene favourites

MANCHESTER indie rock heroes James are in concert at Wolverhampton Civic Hall on Wednesday, following their most successful year since the band reunited in 2007.

The festival favourites fronted by Tim Booth, who first got together in 1982, have won a loyal legion of fans with such rock anthems as Sit Down, Come Home, Sound and She's A Star,

The band's latest album, Girl At The End Of The World, went straight into the UK album charts at no2, second only to Adele.

Glastonbury

In a career yielding 14 studio albums, the group has sold more than 12 millions albums worldwide and have become regulars on the festival circuit, including V and this year's Glastonbury.

Yorkshire-born frontman Booth, a former Shrewsbury School pupil, is now based in California. "We moved here to take some of that Californian laid back optimism," says Booth. "It's starting to seep in. It takes a while to get over the more wired English edginess that is still probably with us."

'I'm always pushing myself as an artist'

Encore for Roachford

ANDREW Roachford arrived on the UK music scene in the late 1980s with the hits Cuddly Toy and Family Man as the linchpin of the band that carried his surname.

Raised in south London to West Indian parents, he was born into a musical family and first hit the road at the age of 14 gigging with his jazz saxophonist uncle Bill Roachford.

"I was in the middle of that whole jazz scene which was an interesting education," he says. "It taught me musically, how to listen and how to entertain. My uncle always told me that you had to give people a show."

Signed to a seven-album deal with Columbia Records, Roachford went on to become that record label's biggest selling domestic act for more than ten years.

Andrew Roachford also became an in-demand songwriter for such as Michael Jackson and Chaka Khan.

Recent years have seen him writing and singing on top selling dance tracks and touring with Mike And The Mechanics.

"I'm always pushing myself as an artist," he says. "When it comes to songwriting, I naturally gravitate to digging deep. That's how it works for me."

His latest album, Encore, was released in the summer and his latest single was a funk-ed up version of Bill Withers soul classic Ain't No Sunshine.

Roachford is in concert at Bilston's Robin 2 venue on Tuesday. Support comes from Birmingham singer-songwriter Rosie O'Sullivan.

Civic in comedy heroes hat-trick

IT'S a big week for comedy with Catherine Tate following up her show at the Barclaycard Arena last night (Wednesday) by bringing such characters as Nan Taylor, Geordie Georgie and, if she can be bovered, sulky teenager Lauren Cooper to Wolverhampton Civic Hall tomorrow (Friday). She will be assisted by Gavin & Stacey actor Mathew Horne.

Gag-machine Jimmy Carr brings his 'Best of, Ultimate, Gold, Greatest Hits Tour' to the Civic for consecutive nights on Saturday and Sunday. The Last Leg regular Josh Widdicombe completes a comedy hat-trick for the Civic on December 8.

Keep Dancing with Louis and Robin

STRICTLY speaking it's not officially endorsed by a certain Beeb ballroom blockbuster, but fans of fancy movers may well enjoy Keep On Dancing at New Alexandra Theatre from Tuesday to Saturday, December 10.

The Birmingham venue hosts a latin and ballroom dancing spectacular featuring 2012 Strictly Come Dancing winner and Olympic gymnast Louis Smith. Among the professional dancers is former Strictly favourite Robin Windsor.

With guest singers between the jives, tangos and salsas, the show is from the same team behind hit shows Spirit Of The Dance and Puttin' On The Ritz.

Jam packed with hits at the Robin

MORE than a tribute band, From The Jam featuring original Jam bassist Bruce Foxton will play all his former band's singles, including B sides, at the Robin 2 in Bilston on Saturday night.

Other key gigs include Brum shoegazers Jaws back home in Digbeth at the Rainbow Warehouse tomorrow (Friday).

Heavy metal outfit Bullet for My Valentine focus on new album Venom at the O2 Academy, Birmingham, on Tuesday, returning the following night to perform 2005 album The Poison. Influential rockers Pixies have sold out O2 Academy on Thursday, December 8.

NCIS: New Orleans (Channel 5, 8pm)

Last week, Merri Brody appeared to fall for the man that mothers warn their daughters about, the one that is too good to be true. Homeland Security Agent John Russo, who was part of the investigation when Brody tracked evidence in the death of an Army general back to Washington DC, set up shop in New Orleans, giving him a cover for his drug smuggling operation. In tonight's explosive season two finale, the NCIS team are partnered with Homeland on the case of a murdered Navy diver, and there are implications that indicate a link to a terrorist attack on the Big Easy. Percy eventually finds some of those explosives that are wired and ready to blow. But can she work quick enough to defuse the bomb?

6.10 Pointless Celebrities. Soap stars Joe Swash and John Altman, Nick Pickard and Ali Bastian, Victoria Bush and Zaraah Abrahams, and Sharon Maughan and Tina Hobley take part in the quiz show. (R)
7.00 Strictly Come Dancing. The five remaining couples bring a taste of Broadway to the studio, as Michaela Weerts, dressed in the ballroom's lyrical extravaganza gets underway as the presenters and judges join the contestants on the dance-floor for a big opening number. However, the more pressing matter of this week's competitive performances quickly overtakes proceedings, as the pro-celebrity duos seek to dazzle judges Len Goodman, Darcey Bussell, Craig Revel Horwood and Bruno Tonioli with routines from hit shows. With the final looming ever closer, the pressure is on. As always, once the dances are complete, voting lines will open, giving members of the public a chance to have their say on this evening's performances.

I'm a Celebrity Get Me Out of Here! (ITV, 9pm)

It is now 21 long days since this year's batch of famous faces - Adam Thomas, Carol Vorderman, Joelle Dommert, Jordan Banjo, Larry Lamb, Lisa Snowdon, Ola Jordan, Sam Quek, Scarlett Moffatt and Wayne Bridge - entered the New South Wales jungle. Tonight, Ant and Dec present the final of the celebrity survival challenge as the last remaining celebs complete their ordeal. As usual the presenters will be springing a few last-day surprises on the contestants, including, no doubt, the infamous annual eating challenge and another daily task. Which of the final line-up will succeed Vicky Pattison and be crowned King or Queen of the Jungle this evening?

An Aboriginal Australian detective returns to his home town in the Outback to investigate the murder of a teenager. He finds himself treated as an outsider by the local police, but also ostracised by his own community – including the daughter he left behind. Murder mystery, starring Aaron Pedersen. (2013)

Junior, Friday, ITV, 10.40pm

WEDNESDAY

Defending Santa, Channel 5, 3.15pm

A small-town sheriff finds a man asleep in the woods who claims to be Santa Claus. The mysterious stranger goes to court to prove he is who he claims to be, leading to an increase in Christmas spirit among the locals and romance between the lawman and the defence attorney. Festive drama, starring Dean Cain, Bill Lewis and Jodie Sweetin. (2013)

THURSDAY

Christmas Confession, Channel 5, 3.15pm

When a struggling actress returns to her hometown for Christmas, a holiday romance makes her realise the life she left behind may be better than the one she has started in New York. Romantic drama, starring Sarah Lancaster and Garry Chalk. (2015)

FRIDAY

Junior, ITV, 10.40pm

A fertility expert pioneers a treatment enabling men to become pregnant and carry babies to full term. When the authorities cancel funding for the research, he decides to test it on himself, but gives little thought to how difficult it will be to keep it a secret. The situation is further complicated when he starts to fall for the woman whose child he is carrying. Comedy, with Arnold Schwarzenegger and Danny DeVito. (1994)

Duo look to hit all the right notes Together

Michael Ball and Alfie Boe. At first glance, it looks like an odd pairing. Both of them have hugely successful careers, so why would they team up? Why not carry on going it alone and take sole credit for all their achievements?

Well, as they say, two's company. Being on the road is lonely, so having somebody with you who understands the rigours involved is probably rather pleasant. This duo also seem to enjoy the banter that can ensue.

During their recent gigs, they have poked fun at the drama surrounding the US Presidential election. Admittedly, it's not exactly high-class satire, but it's an awful lot more interesting than just some bloke standing there belting out a big tune.

Both Ball and Boe are noted for their vocal talents and charisma, but they're not the huge egos that some stars tend to be, which is probably another reason why they work together so well. They have an easy charm and common touch that appeals to people of both sexes and all classes.

Their detractors claim they are both too cheesy for their own good – although with millions of record sales between them, you could argue that their demeanours have worked a treat for them so far. Besides, neither of them seem to care – in fact, there's even a sense of ironic self-awareness within their performances.

Boe and Ball have recently released a joint album, which is rather obviously titled Together, and now they appear to be joined at the hip, having appeared on the Strictly Come Dancing results show a few weeks back; they're also touring the nation as we speak.

But now they're heading for a TV tour now and we've got an ITV special," says Ball. "You can't get better than that. We have some great material to share with the viewers; I can't wait to get started."

Boe adds: "We had such a laugh making the album, making our own

TV show is going to be great. Make sure you tune in for some special performances."

The boys' album features their own unique takes on such classic tunes as For Once in My Life, When You Wish Upon a Star and You'll Never Walk Alone. On tour they've added the likes of Ain't That a Kick in the Head and Tell Me It's Not True.

Expect at least some of those to appear here, alongside a medley of songs from Les Misérables.

Joining them on stage will be singer-songwriter Rick Astley as well as Olivier Award-winning performer Maria Friedman, who counts appearances in Chicago, Ragtime and Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat on her resume, although most viewers will recognise her from her stint as Elaine Peacock in EastEnders.

It promises to be wonderful night of entertainment, and just remember – two is better than one, which means we should get double the fun from this duo.

Ball and Boe: One Night Only, Friday, ITV, 9pm

BEST OF THE REST

MONDAY

Brits Icon – Robbie Williams

ITV, 9pm

Elton John and David Bowie. What they have in common? They're legends, of course. Bonafide superstars whose songs have become classics; they're also the only two previous winners of the Brit icon award. Adding his name to that list is Robbie Williams. Now, we don't want to criticise the Robster, but few would regard him quite so highly as the aforementioned duo, and therefore might suggest that he doesn't deserve to be regarded alongside such luminaries. However, he's won more Brit awards than anybody else in history – 18 in total, if you count the five he won with Take That and his icon trophy. To celebrate, Williams plays a special gig featuring highlights from new album The Heavy Entertainment Show, as well as a few old favourites, and there's a look back at archive footage from throughout his music career.

TUESDAY

This Is Us

Channel 4, 9pm

Do you believe in star signs? If not, this new drama series may leave you wondering if your date of birth does have some influence over your life after all, as it explores the interweaving existences of a variety of individuals who share the same birthday – and more besides. In the first episode, Jack is determined that his wife Rebecca should celebrate her birthday, even if she is a bit preoccupied with the fact that she's pregnant with triplets. Meanwhile, Randal marks his special day by tracking down his absent father, and sitcom star Kevin and his twin sister Kate are dealing with personal crises of their own. The impressive ensemble cast includes Mandy Moore, Milo Ventimiglia and Sterling K Brown, who recently won an Emmy for The People v OJ Simpson.

WEDNESDAY

In Plain Sight

ITV, 9pm

New series. Drama series set in 1955 based on the true story of Lanarkshire detective William Muncie's quest to bring to justice notorious Scottish killer Peter Manuel. With Manuel having been released from prison after a nine-year sentence for housebreaking and sexual assaults, he attacks a young woman and keeps her with him in an open field for most of the night before returning to his home, and Muncie is convinced further crimes are certain to be committed.

Big Life Fix with Simon Reeve

BBC2, 9pm

New series. Simon Reeve and a team of inventors try to help people in need, creating solutions to everyday problems, beginning with a terminally ill photographer who can no longer use his hands to operate a camera. They attempt to bring cutting-edge technology to a remote Welsh village which has no internet access and an unreliable telephone connection, and give some control back to a young designer who has Parkinson's disease and who has been unable to use a pen since developing tremors in her hands two years ago.

THURSDAY

Grand Designs: House of the Year

Channel 4, 9pm

Kevin McCloud

on George Clarke's Amazing Spaces territory this week, as he turns his attention to five properties which have made clever use of small sites. Among the places in the running for the title of House of the Year 2016 is an ultra-stylish one-bedroom space for living and working, which boasts an experimental garden roof. Kevin discovers how a dark mews has become a light and airy home, visits a Dungeness house that combines beach living with high architecture, and calls in on a particularly ingenious extension in Harrogate. He also learns how a narrow beachfront garage has made over into a stunning house with enough room for an extensive art collection.

FRIDAY

Friday Night Supper Club

Channel 4, 11.55pm

No, this is not a spin-off from the popular sitcom Friday Night Dinner. Instead, it's a competition between six of Britain's hottest chefs, who go head-to-head in a post-pub showdown. Alex Szrok, Imran Bashir, Elizabeth Allen, Andrea Michelon, James Cochran and Lee Tiernan are the culinary geniuses taking part, and they'll be whipping up tasty, inventive new dishes that can be easily replicated by using everyday staple ingredients, including chicken, beef and rhubarb.

Just my cup of tea – there's nowt better than York for a city break

THE ancient capital of northern England was known to the Romans as Eboracum, to the Vikings as Jorvik. But we know it as York, an historic city that has remained vibrant and fashionable.

It is one of Britain's great city break destinations with something for everyone – whether a history buff, a shop-til-you-drop consumer or a connoisseur of good pubs and quality restaurants.

The foremost must-see sight is the colossal York Minster. It is 500 feet long, 100 feet wide with a central tower 200 feet high. Taking more than 250 years to build, it first opened for worship more than 500 years ago. It is the largest medieval gothic cathedral north of the Alps and the magnificent edifice is more than matched by a glorious interior with impressive stained glass windows.

Nearby is the Shambles with its medieval half-timbered buildings tilting towards each other. It is said to have inspired Harry Potter's Diagon Alley. It is the most famous street in a city that has a labyrinth of snickelways and ginnels, passages best experienced when darkness falls and you can join one of several ghost walks.

There are more than three kilometres of city walls to explore or take a boat trip on the River Ouse. You can spend days delving into the past at the Yorkshire, York Castle or National Railway museums. Experience 10th century life at Jorvik Viking Centre with its costumed inhabitants.

By Leon Burakowski

For those with a sweet-tooth, York's Chocolate Story tells of the city's famous confectionery families, Craven, Terry and Rowntree, with tastings.

A trip to York is not complete without visiting Bettys, a Yorkshire institution. The uniformed staff serve a range of teas in the proper old fashioned way. The formidable afternoon tea has three tiers of delicious savoury sandwiches, scones with jam and cream, and array of divine cakes. Tea in the elegant art deco surroundings of the cafe tea-rooms on St Helen's Square is a treat – and you can take home a packet of Bettys own special tea blend.

Just a short drive from the city is Castle Howard, familiar from TV and film as the home of the Flytes in Evelyn Waugh's Brideshead Revisited. It is one of the finest stately homes in Britain. The monuments on the road to the mansion declare you are approaching somewhere special.

Built in the 1700s by Sir John Vanbrugh for the Earl of Carlisle and his family, the Howards, it is full of antiquities and artworks that the Howards brought to their palace in the hills. The Great Hall is breathtakingly impressive. The informative exhibition reveals that the Howards had lives every bit as dramatic as the Flytes.

Moors

North Yorkshire Moors Railway steams through forests and heathlands from the market town of Pickering to the old fishing port of Whitby. Harry Potter fans may recognise the remote station Goathland as Hogsmeade, station for Hogwarts.

Whitby is famous for its gothic abbey ruins, where Count Dracula took refuge on arrival in England in Bram Stoker's novel. Thus it is a magnet for goths who explore the graveyard of St Mary's, where the headstones of long dead mariners have weathered into coral-like patterns. It's 199 steps down to the town to buy the local Jet black jewellery or visit the house where explorer Captain Cook learned his craft. Whatever you do, don't leave Whitby without enjoying a fish and chip supper. There's nowt better.

Favourite pick-up now even better

By Graham Breeze

The world's favourite pick-up just got even better with Toyota revealing the stylish new Hilux – but the competition is improving too.

Hilux has been a dominant presence in the global pick-up market for nearly 50 years, recording global sales of over 16 million units, while in Europe some 34,000 models were sold in 2015 alone.

That represents a 23.1 per cent share of the market, making Hilux Europe's best-selling pick-up.

But canny bosses at Toyota have been quick to identify the competition sneaking up on the rails from the Mitsubishi L200, Nissan Navara, Volkswagen Amarok, Isuzu D-Max and Ssang Yong Korando and moved up another gear.

Capable

The latest Hilux is tougher, stronger and more capable off-road than ever before and heralds a new era for the pick-up, adding comfort, safety and advanced technology, hoping to fend off any pretenders to the throne.

Hilux proved it has all the quality, durability and reliability to succeed in this sector by achieving podium finishes in the 2016 Dakar Rally and is now available in single, extra and double cab body styles with a new and stronger ladder chassis, reinforced deck structure, enhanced 4x4 capabilities and improved towing capacity.

The double cab version on test came with a 2.4 litre D-4D engine and featured stop-start technology, six-speed automatic transmission, vastly improved torque delivery and generated 148bhp at 3,400rpm with class

Quality, durability and reliability leading fuel economy of 36.2mpg on the combined cycle.

The version was surprisingly quick too with a top speed of 106mph and 0-62mph in 12.8seconds.

At 5,335 mm long, 1,855 mm wide and 1,815 mm high, the new Hilux is 75 mm longer, 20 mm wider and 45 mm lower than its predecessor and really looks the part. A new upper-grille and headlamp design with a powerful looking bumper housing the large lower grille simply oozes toughness.

On the road this is a much smoother Hilux than the predecessor as Toyota look to cater for the needs of a diverse market. And they have succeeded because this model was equally at home on the motorway as it was on the lanes and tracks of Mid Wales.

Inside it would be easy to mistakenly think you were sitting in a Toyota saloon, with a

Hilux has been a dominant presence in the global pick-up market for nearly 50 years stylish dash on the Invincible Double Cab model on test and stacks of information and technology on offer.

There was power steering, cruise control, reach and rake adjustable steering column, cooled glovebox, a multi-media system, Bluetooth connectivity, air conditioning, tip-up rear seats, cloth upholstery and a 4.2inch multi-information screen.

There are three trim levels at launch: entry-level Active is single or extra cab only and aimed at the commercial vehicle market, while Icon is the cheapest double cab variant with a more upmarket look. Invincible and in particular Invincible X models gain a host of added luxuries.

Prices start at £19,177 for the Single Cab Active with a six-speed manual gearbox while the Invincible on test would set you back £32,645 or £27,251 if you get the VAT back.

The increased load space will prove popular with buyers but the added inches mean parking is even more difficult than before – though the reversing camera does provide extra security in those tight-squeeze situations.

The opposition for Hilux might well be growing and improving but it's hard to imagine the quality will grow to the levels of this Toyota.

Aston Martin launches the latest Vanquish, the 6.0 S

The new Vanquish S is one to watch on the road

Aston Martin's new Vanquish S has been launched and continues the progress of this illustrious model to keep it one to watch on the nation's roads. Both inside and out the looks and performance have been enhanced to make this driver's car a car to carry on driving.

The power of naturally-aspirated 6.0 litre V12 engine has been increased from 573 to 600PS thanks to a revised, freer-breathing intake system with larger volume inlet manifolds. The greater volume of air to flow into the engine at high revs creates a power delivery that powers the car all the way to the limits.

The suspension has been set-up to give a greater stability and precision to the drive. The damper internals, spring rates and anti-roll bar bushes have also been re-tuned to give the Vanquish S a keener edge in the more sporting suspension modes.

The exterior features a new aerodynamic package of exposed carbon fibre splitter and diffuser, plus striking new quad exhaust outlets that makes the looks of the Vanquish S flatteringly distinctive. The revised front splitter and rear diffuser work together to give a significant reduction in frontal lift with a minimal penalty in additional drag. The striking new quad exhaust outlets enhances the rear of the car. The look can be personalised with a range of new options including carbon fibre bonnet louvres, new forged 5-spoke diamond turned wheels and a choice of striking painted graphics packs.

Dr. Andy Palmer, Aston Martin President & CEO said: "From the moment the original Vanquish was launched it became a modern icon. It propelled Aston Martin from an era of hand-built cars to one where craftsmanship and technology combined to create a new kind of great British GT."

"In its second generation the Vanquish maintained that momentum with huge engineering advances such as its all-carbon fibre bodywork and compelling, contemporary styling. Now, the Vanquish S takes a step further, confidently asserting itself within the Aston Martin range and distinguishing itself from the new DB11."

Vanquish S is available in both Coupe and Volante and starts from £199,950 in the UK

Popular and versatile SUV – 2008

By James Parker

The recently revised new Peugeot 2008 SUV that arrived in UK showrooms in the summer is in strong demand with over 40,000 existing UK customers and 500,000 produced since launch in 2013. The appetite for this model continues to rise, with sales in the first half of 2016 up 16 per cent, with 99,900 units sold worldwide.

The latest Peugeot 2008 SUV has recently been updated, with refreshed styling and featuring an enhanced specification.

Enhanced

It has an even more assertive and appealing SUV design, including visual features to give it an enhanced presence; new wheel arch extensions (from Allure level), while a new vertical front grille and front and rear scuff plates (also from Allure level) confirm its robustness and are designed for everyday use.

The new 'Ultimate Red' colour further epitomises the power and desirability of the new 2008 SUV.

The Access A/C, Active and Allure levels are complemented by the new 'GT Line' model. This desirable trim level is already a very popular choice on other key Peugeot models (108, 208, 308 and 508), and adds a sporty theme throughout.

The Peugeot i-Cockpit® is unique to the Brand and embodies the driving characteristics of the Peugeot 2008 SUV, being agile, intuitive and safe.

The compact sports steering wheel offers precise steering and improved

It is combined with Mud & Snow (All-Season) tyres.

Equipment available on new Peugeot 2008 SUV includes (subject to trim level) MirrorScreen, and Carplay®, along with the reversing camera, Active City Brake and Park Assist – a rarity in this segment.

The Euro6 engines ensure high-level driving pleasure while remaining fuel efficient.

Four versions are 'Best-in-Class' in their segment, including the 1.2L PureTech 130 S&S 6-speed manual.

Mark Pickles, UK marketing director at Peugeot, said: "The 2008 SUV is a distinctive and popular, practical choice with our customers, with 500,000 of them worldwide and with sales up 16 per cent in the first half of 2016. Our current retail offers bring increased appeal to an already captivating vehicle."

Suzy Richards receives an award for Run for Joel, which was nominated again

Albion prospect Jonathan Leko was on the shortlist

Bethan Rees of Stafford Athletics Club was another up for the Aspiring Talent title

Unsung hero – Wyrley Juniors chairman Keith Hardy

Sporting heroes listed for community awards

A LONG-serving junior football club chairman and a teenage Premier League star were among the nominees for the West Midlands Community Sports Awards taking place this week.

Taking place at Villa Park last night (Wednesday), the awards were set up with the goal of recognising sports clubs, projects and individuals making a difference in their community.

The highlight was the BBC Midlands Sport Unsung Hero category with Keith Hardy, the chairman of Wyrley Juniors, one of three nominated for the prize.

Hardy was selected alongside Richard Brough, from Handsworth Grammar School Old Boys Water Polo and David Finney from Redditch's Bridge Swimming Club. The winner will be given the chance to win the national unsung hero prize at the BBC Sports Personality of the Year awards in Liverpool.

Formed in 1982, Wyrley Juniors are one of the biggest junior set-ups in the country, fielding more than 60 teams, both male and female, in a variety of age groups.

Recognition

Hardy has played a huge role in the club's success and is delighted to see the Juniors, who were the FA's Community Club of The Year in 2011, receive further recognition.

"I was shocked, first of all when I found out I had been nominated," he said. "And then pleasantly surprised. I am pleased because it is recognition for the club and what it has achieved over the past 30 odd years. No-one who is involved in grassroots football is in it for personal awards, it's all about the development of the kids and the club."

Albion striker Jonathan Leko was up for the Aspiring Talent Award. The 17-year-old, originally from the Democratic Republic of Congo, made his breakthrough into the Baggies first team early last season. Stafford Athletics Club's javelin star Bethan Rees and Darlaston boxer Benjamin Whittaker were also among the nominees.

Nominated in the Community Club Award was Stourbridge-based Mums on the Run, group which aims to get mothers active while raising money for charity. They were honoured at the Black Country Sport & Physical Activity Awards, which were presented by Olympic gymnast Kristian Thomas.

Also recognised is Run for Joel, a fundraising event held in the memory of Tunisia terror attack victim Joel Richards. Attracting more than 1,000 participants when it took place at Sandwell Valley Country Park in September, it has been nominated for the Community Project Award and was also honoured at the Black Country Sport & Physical Activity Awards. Cannock-based Real Girls were shortlisted for the same category.

Sally-Anne Chambers, head coach at Tipton-based Midrange Netball Club, was one of six nominees for community coach of the year. Akil Maylor, from Wolverhampton's Rise Up Yoga, was nominated in the Power of Sport Award, which recognises an individual whose life has been significantly improved or changed thanks to a more active lifestyle.

The awards are organised by six county sports partnerships across the region. Chris Child, chairman of the WMCSA and chief executive of Energize Shropshire, Telford & Wrekin, said: "The standard is always high in the West Midlands Community Sport Awards, but this year it has been particularly difficult to select a shortlist."

"These awards are not just about recognising the best sporting talent – although there are some notable achievements across the finalists including Paralympic medals, national and world championships. Instead, they are designed to showcase the dedication and commitment shown by so many people in order to help make a difference through the power of sport."

"All of the finalists have already been named as winners in their own local County Sports Partnership awards and they can be incredibly proud to have made the final shortlist."

Nominees were: Community Club Award: Coundon Court FC, Ellesmere College Titans Swimming Club, Stourbridge Mums On The Run, Tamworth Boxing Club, Women's Boxing Club (Birmingham), Worcester National Swimming Club.

Community Project Award: Be Active (Telford), Big Birmingham Bikes, Enggel (Coventry), Run For Joel (Black Country), Real Girls (Cannock), The Core Skate (Hereford).

Community Coach of the Year: Alan Birch (Ellesmere College Titans Swimming Club), Sally-Anne Chambers (Midrange Netball Club, Tipton), Job King (Coventry Wheelchair Racing Club), Jason Lowe (Women's Boxing Club, Birmingham), David Rigby (Kidsgrove Cricket Club), Mark Stowe (Worcester Swimming Club).

Aspiring Talent Award: Jonathan Leko (West Bromwich Albion), George Mitchell (Modern Pentathlete From Warwick), Bethan Rees (Stafford Athletics Club), Adam Summers (Aston's Kickboxing Academy, Shrewsbury), Benjamin Whittaker (Firewalker Boxing Club, Darlaston).

Power of Sport Award: Liv Boucher (Run Like A Girl, Warwick), Darren Ford (Inclusively Fit Project), Yousef Khara (O'Dell's Amateur Boxing Club, Birmingham), Akil Maylor (Rise Up Yoga, Wolverhampton), Ian Nash (Redditch Boxing Club).

Glassboys put visitors to the sword

Stourbridge 5 Workington 0
SUPERB Stourbridge warmed up for the FA Cup clash with Northampton this weekend by putting five past Workington – with all goals coming in the first 27 minutes.

Dangerous Matt Dodd was at the heart of Stourbridge's early onslaught and soon made his presence felt when he cut inside Workington defender Gari Rowntree and was tripped as he raced through on goal.

Referee Sarah Garratt had no hesitation in pointing to the penalty spot and the league's leading marksman Luke Benbow duly slotted home.

Further chances went begging before Stourbridge made it 2-0 on 15 minutes. Dodd left three Workington players trailing in his wake before picking out Jordan Archer with a pinpoint cross to head home his first Glassboys goals.

It was 3-0 on 20 minutes when Jack Duggan headed Leon Broadhurst's free-kick against the underside of Workington's crossbar. The ball bounced down and was partially cleared straight back to Duggan who fired home at the second attempt.

The dynamic Dodd set up a fourth goal just three minutes later, cutting through a beleaguered defence and crossing for the unmarked Kayelden Brown to convert at the far post.

Stourbridge struck a fifth goal on 27 minutes when Broadhurst lobbed a sublime pass over Workington's defence for Benbow to bury home a spectacular goal with a first-time volley.

Stourbridge could have increased the lead further when Brown blazed wide on 50 minutes with only Workington goalkeeper Aaran Taylor to beat. Workington spurned the chance of a consolation goal when Rob Simpson shot weakly at Glassboys goalkeeper Matt Gould.

Boxing club at the double in regional competition finals

DUDLEY'S Priory Park Boxing Club will definitely have a double presence in the National Association of Boys and Girls Clubs Championships semi-finals.

The Priory Road gym got two out of three through the last of the West Midlands finals held at the Triumph Social Club in Coventry.

Former national champion James Mongan and club-mate Jee Johal face last four clashes at the Croxteth Leisure Centre in Liverpool on Saturday.

They both feature in Class A, for fighters born in 2001. Mongan is at 48kg, with Johal at 60kg.

However, another Priory Park fighter, Rahmatullah Sher, battled in vain against the useful Liam Hughes, from Exhall in Coventry, before going down on a split at 60kg in Class B (born 2000).

Ethan Collins, of Brooklands in Dudley, lost a box-off on a split at the regional semi-final stage on a split to Kaash Buttery, from Tom Lowe in Stoke-on-Trent.

Collins' Brooklands club-mate Paige Goodey may have to go up to 66kg to take on Carlisle's Brodie Stephenson in a female Class B straight national final.

Stepping into ring to help friend

Reuben takes the gold medal at the World Cup

A KICKBOXER will step into the ring for the final time this year to help out a friend as a season of success draws to a close.

Reuben Charlesworth, of Lower Gornal, has won regional and national titles this year, as well as four world championships.

Aged 19, he travels around the world competing for his club, CMA Villains in Halesowen and recently won the World Cup in Romania.

He trains and teaches at the family martial arts centre and also gives back what he has learned over the years by tutoring at schools in Dudley and Sandwell. Reuben has just one competition left this year, which is this weekend. He has cancelled a scheduled bout in Poland on Sunday to line up in Birmingham instead for a charity event for a friend who has been diagnosed with Motor Neurone Disease.

All of CMA Villains will be competing along with many others clubs, who will putting on fights and exhibitions. Spectators are welcome at North Solihull Sports Centre, Chelmsley Wood, from 11am. Admission is £10 on the door or £25 to participate. Call 0121 770 3822.

Six-miler a real test of endurance

THERE were opportunities right on the doorstep for athletes from Dudley King-swinford Running Club at the weekend with huge numbers travelling the short distance to Baggeridge Country Park for the Suicide 6. A colourfully named race organised by Action Heart, the cardiac charity based at Russell's Hall Hospital, over a six-mile course around Baggeridge down into Himley Park and back again, taking in some of the most testing features of both venues.

Within a mile of the start the course took competitors over the trig point, a brutally thigh shredding climb, before a stretch along the clay road sapping any remaining strength from already ruined legs.

Added to this another steep climb across a ridge behind Himley Hall and a waist deep water crossing to negotiate before climbing 111 steps before crossing the line, some in a heap.

Stuart Perkins was first home for the blue hoops in 40.43 taking 10th place, Dave Norman finished in 23rd in 42.57 chased over the line by Simon Hughes in 25th in 43.07.

Gary Bonner was 29th in 43.34, Mick Quane 47th in 44.28, Mark Homer was 53rd in 45.01, Stephen Parr finished 86th in 47.24, Sergei Lyubomnikov was 96th in 48.22 and Darren Marklew came home in 102nd in 48.41.

Andy Weaver came home in 49.47, Richard Tonks in 50.10, Rory Campbell in 51.26, John Sixsmith in 51.34, John Andrews in 53.06, Andy Morrison in 53.20, Karen Doy in 57.10, Malcolm Bedall in 1.00.57, Jane Campbell in 1.01.47, Lisa Kendrick in 1.02.25, Jan Burbie in 1.06.49 and Tony Nokes in 1.06.51.

Amanda Hunt, Tracy Jones and Gina Collins all finished together in 1.10.28, Preston Grundy crossed the line in 1.12.34 and Chris Wood finished in 1.12.40.

It's Valentine's Day as visitors snatch it

Halesowen Town 1 Frickley Athletic 2 NATHAN Valentine broke Halesowen's hearts with Frickley's stunning injury time winner. But no-one could begrudge Frickley their vital three points as the struggling visitors created the better openings in a game low in quality.

Kudu Musuke caused particular danger and he went close on four occasions.

Noel Burdett nipped in to snatch the lead for Frickley in the final seconds of the first half.

Kaiman Anderson headed Yeltz level in the 52nd minute before Valentine arched home a 25-yarder in the third minute of injury time.

U-16s overturn neighbours

The Halesonians u-16s squad, who are in impressive form and beat Stourport 87-5

Stourport RFC 5 Old Halesonians u-16s 87-5 HALES helped out their hosts by loaning the depleted neighbours three players for the first game between the two sides.

Hales are in good form and made an immediate impact with a fourth minute Louis Prosser try. They went on to build up a substantial lead as Aiden Wilbey, Alessi Knight, Jack Law, Oscar Crowcombe, Will Hymer and Jacob Saul took the half-time tally to 53-0.

Stourport played well, they had a brave pack that ran the ball into a strong Old Hales defensive line and their backs showed some pace, but they did make some handling errors and Old Hales were able to secure turnover ball again and again.

Old Hales forward Mike Essex was next on the scoresheet, but he was playing for Stourport and scored their only try.

Jacob Saul was rewarded with a couple more impressive tries, Tom King and Jack Law were gaining points from the conversion kicks, Will Ford discovered that he could use his size and speed to great effect in driving the opposition off in the ruck and Charlie Adams made a super run to score an impressive try.
